$10,000 FOR MILLION.

Mrs. Shaw, Jr., Defendant in Big Action in the Federal Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Henry Kevin, Jr., individual owner, is sued in the Federal Court for a million dollars by William F. Brown of Alberta.

The action involves about 10,000 acres of timber lands in King and Snohomish counties. Brown estimates the value of the timber alone at $2,500,000. He alleges he and Charles Hewitt, associated with Hewitt twenty years ago, they were to cruise the timber counties named and Hewitt was to purchase them from the Great Northern Railroad, in which event it was to have a half-interest. Brown and Tucker a quarter each. Hewitt died, and Tucker assigned his interest to Brown. The latter alleges he has been unable to secure a deed.

Hewitt was born in the eighties in Ohio, where his father was a banker. He is said to be a stockholders in the Diamond Lumber Company.

Guns Boom All Day in St. Petersburg in Honor of the Event.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 3.—Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, second son of King Gustav, the popular sailor Prince, who visited America in 1907, was married this afternoon to Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna, cousin of the Emperor of Russia, and daughter of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch.

The ceremony took place at Tsarkoe-Selo, and was accompanied by all the pomp and brilliant display characteristic of the most stately court in Europe.

Grand Duchess Marie, who yesterday became bride of Prince Wilhelm of Sweden.

The day was marred by frequent heavy falls of snow, which, however, failed to chill the enthusiasm of the great crowds that gathered around the palace to catch a glimpse of the Emperor and other royal personages and the arriving guests. The crowds stood for hours in the bleak and muddy Palace Square until the conclusion of the ceremony.

In the evening a great state banquet was served, at which toasts were drunk to the good understanding between Sweden and Russia, recently reached in the Baltic agreement, on which today's wedding—the first in modern times between the ruling houses of the two countries—puts the seal.

NOISY ACCLAMATION.

The beginning of the nuptial ceremonies was announced by the firing of five guns simultaneously at 9 o'clock this morning, by the battery at Tsarkoe-Selo and by the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, in St. Petersburg. This was but the beginning of the noisy acclamation, for the thunder of the salutes was heard almost interruptedly [illegible] the afternoon and evening.

The wedding guests who took part in the ceremony assembled at half-past two o'clock in the great palace at Tsarkoe-Selo. Only Premier Stolypin, the members of the Cabinet, the President of the Duma, and the president of the Council of State, the principal Ambassadors to Russia and their wives and a few of the highest dignitaries of the empire, found place in the small blue and gold chapel of the palace, where the orthodox ceremony was performed. The other guests were stationed, according to their rank, in the various salons through which the bridal procession passed.

The robing of the bride was performed, in accordance with court custom, in the private apartments of the Empress. She was dressed by the Empress, and the Dowager Empress, assisted by their maids of honor and ladies in waiting.

The bride wore on her head a jeweled diadem, and from her shoulders hung a long-trained mantle of strawberry velvet, lined with ermine.

ROYALTY IN PARADE.

In the procession the trait of this garment was borne by five court chamberlains. As soon as the bride had been completely arrayed, Prince Wilhelm was notified by the master of ceremonies, and conducted to the inner apartments, where Grand Duchess Marie was waiting.

A salute of twenty-one guns and a blare of trumpets announced the start of the procession. At its head came the Dowager Empress on the arm of King Gustave, the Emperor of Russia escorting Queen Olga, of Greece; the Empress, escorted by the Grand Duke of Hesse; Grand Crown Prince Ferdinand and Crown Princess Marie of Roumania; attended by the court ushers and marshals and other functionaries.

Then, arm in arm, came the bridal pair. Behind the young couple marched Prince Nicholas and Prince Andrew of Greece and their wives, Prince Christopher of Greece and Prince Carl of Sweden and his wife.

The guests from foreign courts were followed by more than a score of Russian Grand Dukes and Grand Duchesses, including the three eldest daughters of Emperor Nicholas, Grand Duchess Olga, Grand Duchess Tatiana and Grand Duchess Marie, the eldest being thirteen years old.

This was the first time the Emperor's daughters have appeared in state.

PICTURESQUE COSTUMES.

The little Crown Prince, who is too young to be present, and the Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, president of the commission of national defense, who has been summoned to the Caucasus because of the war clouds on the Turkish frontier, were the only members of the imperial family conspicuous by their absence.

The Grand Duchesses, like all the invited ladies, wore the picturesque court costumes of high pearl-encircled caps and low cut dresses.

The imperial guests were received at the chapel doors by the metropolitan of the court, and a number of priests. After the Emperor had been blessed and sprinkled with holy water, he conducted the bridal pair to the dais before the great golden gates on the high altar.

The wedding rings were brought from the altar on golden salvers and placed upon the fingers of the bride and bridegroom by the Emperor's confessor.

The metropolitan then completed the rites of the Russian marriage service, two of the bride's nearest relatives holding crowns over the heads of the bridal pair during the ceremony.

While the Te Deum was being chanted an imperial salute of 101 guns was fired. The procession then returned to one of the ante-salons, where the Lutheran marriage ceremony was performed by the Swedish bish op of Lund. This brought the afternoon programme to an end.

NUPTIAL DINNER

The nuptial dinner was served at half past 7 o'clock. Chamberlains and gentlemen of the court stood behind the chairs of the imperial and royal guests and presented the various dishes and wines to them. Toasts were drunk to the Emperor and Empress of Russia, to the bridal pair and to their parents, to the imperial family and to their loyal Russian subjects.

After the dinner the members of the imperial family and their royal guests participated in a polonaise. This stately progress around the great reception hall had something in the nature of the Hohenzollern torch dance.

After this function, the guests were driven in state to the Alexander Palace, the private residence of the Emperor, the bridal pair riding with their sponsors in a gala equipage. The Emperor and Empress and the Dowager Empress were surrounded by torch bearers and escorted by a company of the Emperor's Cossack guards in brilliant blue and scarlet uniforms.

At a late hour in the evening the bridal pair took a special train for St. Petersburg, where the honeymoon will be passed at the palace of the late Archduke Sergius.

During the day there were services in all the churches of the empire and in St. Petersburg church bells pealed throughout the entire afternoon.

POWERS TO BE PARDONED.

Report Current That He and Jim Howard Will Be Released Tomorrow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRANKFORT (Ky.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From the most reliable source it is known that Gov. Wilson will act on the application of Caleb Powers and Jim Howard for pardon this week—probably tomorrow.

From the same source it is learned that the Governor has made up his mind to pardon both men, as he has found nothing in the records of the trials of the noted prisoners to hold them.

He has been studying the records for a week. Friday afternoon he went at the work in dead earnest, and retiring to his apartments here, declined to see callers. He pursued the same course yesterday and today.

FIND BODY IN RESERVOIR.

Wealthy New Yorker Thought to Have Been Killed When Wife Refused Ransom.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery today in the reservoir in Central Jark of the body of John Peiter Heins, a wealthy man who had been strangely missing for six months, revealed a tragedy of deep mystery.

There are evidences that Heins had been held captive for ransom by a desperate gang of men and that when their demands upon his wife for the payment of a large sum of money were not met he was murdered and his body cast into the reservoir.

Heins, who was worth $100,000, disappeared last October. Three weeks later his wife received a demand for $1000 for the ransom of her husband, the alternative being his death. She ignored the demand. Today his body was found.

AFGHANS REPULSED

Fierce Fighting at Khyber Pass.

British Forces Withstand Determined Attack on a Blockhouse.

Army of Twenty Thousand Is Defeated; Situation Is Critical.

England Likely to Become Involved With Ameer by Outbreak.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The increasing gravity of the news from the northwest frontier of India points to the likelihood of serious complications with the Ameer of Afghanistan.

A dispatch from Simla, the summer capital of India, announces that a body of Afghans between 13,000 and 20,000 strong, crossed the border into India on Friday night and divided into two parties.

The larger and better armed party went to Landi Kotal, which guards the Afghan end of the Khyber Pass, and the other, under command of Sufi Sahib, went to the upper Bamian Valley. On Saturday evening they delivered their main attack upon the Michnikandach blockhouse, which is held by a detachment of the Khyber Rifles.

The Afghans made determined efforts to capture the blockhouse, and heavy firing continued until 8 o'clock this morning. The attack failed, the garrison inflicting some loss upon the Afghans. The garrison was also able to defeat the Afghans' repeated attempts to capture the caravansary near the blockhouse. The enemy withdrew to the southward, attacking the Loargai Shinwaris, who repelled them.

Dispatches from other points state that Maj.-Gen. Sir James Willcocks, who commands the expedition sent into the Bazar Valley to punish the Zakka Khels, an Afridi tribe, directly he received news of the impending attack, made swift dispositions to meet the new emergency. The British forces, which were concentrating for the purpose of advancing against the Mohmands, who became troublesome after the Zakka Khels were subdued, have never been diverted to other directions.

Gen. Willcocks, who is himself taking charge of the operations, has already arrived at Landi Kotal, with a brigade of infantry, a squadron of cavalry and eight guns. A few of the enemy were seen in the hills during the march, and a few shots were fired. Another brigade was due to arrive at Ali Masjid this evening.

It is gathered from the foregoing dispatches that the Afghan attempts to secure the coöperation of the Mohmands have failed, despite the activity of the Afghan Mullahs, or fanatic priests, many of whom were recently in the Ameer's employ.

For weeks past thousands of the Ameer's border people have been swarming into British territory with supplies of arms and ammunition and tons of provisions, led by Mullahs. They moved forward, raising the fiery cross among the restive Mohmands, who, however, remained quiescent, and turned a deaf ear to the fanatical appeals made to them.

TOBACCO CROP DOOMED.

Society of Equity and Night Riders Prevent Industry for 1908 in Kentucky.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although the Society of Equity and the Night Riders say they have no connection they have achieved their common object—the prevention of the raising of a crop of tobacco in 1908.

Not 10,000,000 pounds will be raised in the whole State, where at least 150,000,000 pounds usually are grown. By this time of the year plants are always ready for field planting. There are, however, very few plant beds and none have been set out.

In the White Burley belt there will not be 5,000,000 pounds. The few plant beds that are out are closely guarded. Many tenants are leaving Kentucky because there is no tobacco crop, and those who remain expect to undergo hardships, as they say they cannot make a living for their families unless they raise tobacco.

BRYAN FORGETS TO TALK.

Preoccupied With His Fences, Nebraskan Overlooked Meeting Where He Was to Speak.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] So engrossed is he in work on his farm, putting up fences and the like, that W. J. Bryan forgot last night that he was to be a speaker at a meeting of the Nebraska Traveling Men's Club.

After waiting until the hour grew late, some members of the club telephoned to Mr. Bryan, notifying him of his appointment. Ample apology was made, but it was then too late to reach the city from Fairview Farm, and Dr. P. Hall, president of the Central National Bank of Lincoln, was substituted as orator.

Bryan made a pledge to the traveling men that he would take it upon himself hereafter to see that a speaker of repute was present to address the members at each subsequent meeting of the club.

HOLOCAUST.

MANY DIE IN FIRE IN FORT WAYNE HOTEL.

Building Is Quickly Destroyed, and Bodies Are Lost in Ruins—Ten Are Known to Have Perished, but List May Be Greatly Increased.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FORT WAYNE (Ind.) May 3.—Ten known dead, many missing and thirteen seriously injured, is the result of a fire that destroyed the New Avelina Hotel, Fort Wayne's principal hostelry, at an early hour today.

Chief of Police Anckenbruck said this evening that he believed twenty bodies were still in the ruins.

The entire interior of the building is a smoldering heap of ruins, and how many dead are concealed by the débris can only be conjectured.

The hotel register was consumed by the fire, and there are no accurate means of determining who are missing.

The known dead are:

R. S. JOHNSON, Pana, Ill.
M. HIRSCH, New York.
J. B. MILLER, Sheboygan, Wis.
J. E. ELLIS, employé of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.
W. A. PITCHER, Fort Wayne, salesman for S. F. Boyster & Co., Fort Wayne.
G. W. DEVINY, salesman for Crawford & Lehman, Philadelphia.

Three unidentified men and one woman are also among the dead.

KNOWN MISSING.

The known missing are: E. B. Alty, Wabash, Ind.; Charles Benjamin, salesman for a Detroit neckwear company; Mrs. Sarah Hathaway, Mishawaka, Ind.; unknown woman, companion of Mrs. Hathaway; R. E. Trible, Dalhart, Tex.

Among the injured were: James A. Foster of Fort Wayne, burned about the face and head, is at St. Joseph's Hospital; A. Metee of Pittsburgh, burned about face, arms and legs; Lyman Campbell, jumped three stories, badly shocked; Charles Falls, Columbus, O., leaped three stories, gash in leg, contusion on head and lacerated; E. M. Matthews, Columbus, O., back broken and burned, at St. Joseph's Hospital; George A. Sill, Philadelphia, badly cut and burned about face and arms; Mrs. Agnes Adeau, Miss Margaret Meechan, Miss Anna Block and Nathan Bell, all kitchen employés, burned and blistered, at hospital; F. C. Phillips, Calumet, Mich., face burned and head scorched; John Long, bartender, arms broken.

The complete destruction of the interior of the hotel makes the work of recovering bodies a difficult task. A confused heap of charred wood, bricks and twisted girders is piled up between the bare walls to the second story. Piece by piece this must be removed before the roll of the dead can be completed. Some of the bodies taken out are mangled and charred beyond all recognition.

Infantry Co. D, and Battery B, Indiana National Guard, are on duty aiding the fire and police forces to clear away the débris.

The fire was discovered at 3:30 this morning in the elevator shaft by Night Clerk Ralph Hopkins. He rushed to the upper floors, alarming the guests, until the flames, which had spread with appalling rapidity, drove him back. His efforts, however, saved many lives.

LIKE MATCHWOOD.

The hotel was erected half a century ago and the woodwork was dry as tinder. It burned like matchwood, and within a few minutes from the time the fire was discovered, the whole of the hotel was a mass of flames that filled the corridors and rooms with suffocating clouds of smoke, and laid fiery barriers across all means of escape save by the windows.

The fire department rescued many persons by means of ladders, but some, frenzied by the onward rush of the flames, leaped from high windows to the paved streets below.

R. S. Johnson of Pana, Ill., jumped from the fifth story. His body struck a balcony and bounded far into the street. He was a crushed and bleeding mass when picked up, and died a short time later in St. Joseph's Hospital.

As the flames increased, men and women were seen in the windows of their rooms, where they wildly implored help. Those who got from their rooms before the flames cut off their retreat, were able to make their way to the fire escapes, and so were saved with comparative ease. Soon the flames curled about the fire escapes. Some of the more hardy ones braved the flames and made their way through smoke and fire down the iron stairways.

THRILLING ESCAPES.

There were many thrilling escapes. Claude H. Varnell of the Fort Wayne baseball team, his sister, Mrs. John Hendricks, and John Hendricks of Chicago, manager of the Fort Wayne team, together with Master Hendricks, aged 5 years, barely escaped with their lives. Varnell lost all of his personal belongings, valued at several thousand dollars. Hendricks, with his wife ahead of him, and his boy in his arms, was descending the fire escape from the fifth floor. At the third floor the fire broke out below them. He swung Mrs. Hendricks over the railing and she dropped to the platform of the story below. He then dropped his son into the waiting arms of his wife, and all made their way to the ground.

Other rescues were thrilling and escapes as narrow were numerous.

When the fire was at its height, a man at a third-story window was seen wildly waving his arms. He shrieked, "My God, men, save me! Will no one save me!" and then leaped from the window and went swirling to the pavement below. He was picked up desperately hurt. He was E. M. Matthews of Columbus, O.

A score or more of women employed in the hotel were in the upper rooms in the rear of the hotel. Most of them escaped without injury, but some of them in their fright leaped to the alley and were more or less injured.

THE FLEET.

GALE HITS BIG FLEET.

Illinois Nearly Rams Alabama.

Big Battleship Loses Anchor and Drifts Toward Monterey Shore.

Tears Gangway from Sister Vessel; Heroic Helmsman Averts Disaster.

Small Boats Damaged; Liberty Men Unable to Return Through Seas.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MONTEREY, May 3.—A northwest gale sweeping into the harbor gave the eight ships of the second division of the Atlantic fleet several hours of watchfulness last night, and cut off all communication with the shore.

A serious accident was narrowly averted when the battleship Illinois, second in line from the Alabama, flagship of Rear-Admiral Sperry, parted her anchor chain in the height of the blow and went drifting toward the shore. The Illinois headed directly for the Alabama, and it looked for a time as though a collision was imminent.

By heroic work the helmsman managed to steer the drifting ship away, and the only damage done was the tearing away of the port gangway of the Alabama. The Illinois drifted fully 300 yards before her emergency anchors, sent spinning into the white-capped waters, finally held fast.

The high winds continued today and the Illinois made no attempt to regain her position in the fourth-division column.

As early as 9 o'clock last night it was announced that no more steam launches would run between the ships and shore. Many stout little steamers that already had made the shore were held in the sheltered waters, and the launches near the ships were hauled out of the water.

SLEEP ON FLOORS.

A thousand liberty men were ashore, and the problem of finding a place for them to sleep severely taxed the available buildings in Monterey. The patrol officers on duty had to share the lot of the men and sleep on hard pine floors with only their capes to protect them.

Admiral Sperry's barge from the Alabama had a hole stove in her bow as the result of a collision with the ship's gangway, and was beached later in the night. A schooner laden with lime also went ashore, and a gasoline launch in which an unfastened lighted lantern had been left burning, caught fire and went to the bottom.

It is believed the anchor from the Illinois, lost when the cable parted last night, may not be recovered, as the water is too deep for divers to work in.

All of the ships managed to send boats to the shore today at intervals. It was said, however, that if the blow continued, it might, delay the departure of the second squadron ships for Santa Cruz tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO IN GALA DRESS.

NORTHERN CITY READY TO WELCOME MIGHTY FLEET.

Streets Are Profusely Decorated With Bunting and Electric Lights and Thousands of Visitors Are Pouring in to Witness Naval Pageant and Enjoy Festivities.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—In eager expectancy San Francisco is awaiting the arrival of the Atlantic battleship fleet. The meats are baked, the house is in order and the feast is set.

The members of the household are clothed in their best raiment, and are busy with the final arrangement of bow and other adornment.

Fluttering flags, navy pennants and streamers and Rear-Admiral Evans's pictures are everywhere. The streets are a long vista of bunting in national colors, and flags waving from white poles fifty feet high, every 100 feet, one large and a cluster of five smaller flags flying from each one, and terminating in the huge red, white and blue shield on the tall Ferry tower.

On each side of the Ferry tower, stretched on long wire cables, are the words, "Welcome to the Atlantic Fleet" in the kaleidoscopic colors of the international navy signal code, flags and pennants, while on Telegraph Hill the word "Welcome" stands in letters fifty feet high, which can be read for many miles, and which at night will be illuminated by 2500 electric lights.

Festoons of incandescent lights run on both sides of the principal streets, and prominent buildings are outlined in electric bulbs, furnishing at night a most magnificent illumination.

IMPORTANT.

MUCH INTEREST IS MANIFEST.

Attention Centered on Conference of Governors.

Will Mark Epoch in the History of the Nation.

Conservation of Resources to Be Discussed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Conservation of national resources is a topic crowding the legislative programme of Congress for attention in official circles at present.

Next week the Governors of all the States and Territories with other eminent men, will gather here to consider the subject. It will be one of the most notable gatherings ever held in the country. Public interest is being whetted in advance of the conclave by the volumes of literature bearing on the importance attaching to the matters to be considered.

Extensive plans for lionizing the distinguished participants in the conventions also are being made, and between the business sessions held in the east room of the White House many notable functions will take place. The President will give a dinner to the Governors and other notable participants to start the festive part of the programme, which will terminate with a reception at the home of Gifford Pinchot, United States Forester.

In connection with the conservation of the nation's fuel supply, which is to come before the convention, officials of the United States Geological Survey have just issued a statement to the effect that 200,000,000 tons of coal, enough to supply the needs of the country for six months, are being wasted every year in the United States through improper mining methods. This waste represents a loss of more than $200,000,000, for the coal is worth at least $1 a ton.

"In our investigations we find that in the mining operations of this country nearly one half of the total supply is left underground," says J. A Holmes, Chief of the Technologic branch. "This coal is left as pillars to support the roof of the mine or because it is of inferior quality, only the best part of the coal being removed from many beds. The waste is also due to the fact that the working out of the lower beds of coal first, in some cases, breaks and renders impracticable the subsequent mining of the adjacent higher coal beds."

CHILDREN TO BE SHIELDED.

Chicago Judge Will not Permit Their Testimony in Divorce Cases Except When Unavoidable.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Children are hereafter to be shielded in Chicago divorce courts from the necessity of appearing as witnesses in marital litigation between their parents if the precedent set yesterday by Judge Carpenter in the Circuit Court is generally followed.

It has frequently been a matter for comment among those familiar with the daily grinding of the default divorce mills that very young children are often forced to take the stand in support of pitiful or horrible allegations of cruelty, drunkenness or infidelity made against one parent by another. Youngsters ranging in age from 8 years upward are often dragged into the divorce courts by their fathers or mothers, and put upon the stand as chief corroborative witnesses in proving the charges.

Judge Carpenter, however, intends to have this evil reduced to the smallest possible minimum in his court hereafter, and yesterday he announced his position from the bench.

FIRE WIPES OUT TOWN.

MANILA, May 4.—The town of Antipolo, in the province of Morong, has been practically destroyed by fire.

Four hundred houses were burned and hundreds of people are homeless. The famous shrine was saved.

The fire was caused by lightning. Antipolo is a town of 300 inhabitants.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although Chicago was rather chilly today and the buds had a rather forlorn appearance, the temperature and general weather conditions by contrast with points in the north and west was almost ideal. Dispatches from Omaha showed a heavy frost, with much damage to the early garden stuffs and fruit trees. From Toledo came reports of a heavy gale amounting almost to a blizzard, with snow flurries throughout the day. This wet snow fell over practically all lower Michigan and Northern Indiana, but the temperature remained above freezing, and little damage to the fruits was feared there. The maximum temperature was 49, with a minimum of 45 deg. Middle West temperatures at 7 p.m.:

URGES PUBLICITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. W. A. Bartlett, D.D., pastor of the First Congregational Church, tonight said: "The real condition of a city's life, whether good or bad, should be made public, for in no other way can the citizens intelligently cooperate in removing what is objectionable. It should be known that thousands of men are being laid off from work through no fault of theirs be their employers, but because of slack times. Many of these men are honest, sober, industrious, and it is for the best interest of the city to keep them so."

DEDICATE LIBRARY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The new library and museum of the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, was formally dedicated to the use of the students today by President C. J. Little. Dr. U. Sasemoki, delegate from Japan to the Methodist conference in Baltimore, and president of Chenzei College, Japan, attended the services.

FOR SANITARY MILK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The ruling of the health department, compelling small store dealers to sell milk in bottles instead of sanitary cans will operate to reduce materially the number of small store milk depots in Chicago. It is estimated that at least 1000 small dealers will quit the milk business and confine themselves to the sale of miscellaneous wares.

FILIPINO IS AUTOIST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the insular provinces they are taking an interest in organized motoring. An application for non-resident membership in the Chicago Automobile Club was received at the Plymouth Place Clubhouse today from Antonio Roxas of Manila, P. I. The name was proposed by F. M. Bachrach of the same city, who became a C.A.C. member at the suggestion of N. H. Van Sicklen. Mr. Bachrach refers to Mr. Roxas as a multimillionaire devotee of the sport, owning one American and several French machines.

DEMOCRATS GATHER.

COLUMBUS (O.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The advance ghard of delegates and candidates began to arrive tonight for the Democratic State convention which will be held here Tuesday. The platform will be brief. There will be an indorsement of William J. Bryan for President and the delegates to the national convention will be instructed for him.

MANY DIE IN FIRE.

the ruins is the belief of Fire Chief Hilbrecht and Chief of Police Anckenbruck. Chief Anckenbruck gives the number of dead in the ruins at twenty. At 6 o'clock eight bodies had been recovered.

A guest on the fifth floor, who was aroused at the outbreak of the fire, and escaped, says he believes very few on the fifth floor escaped.

Among the missing are two aged women, Miss Hathaway and her companion of Mishawaka, Ind. They came here to receive some children for an orphanage with which they were connected. Their bodies are still in the ruins.

The traveling men are searching for acquaintances known to be in the hotel.

NONE SAVED CLOTHES.

Within fifteen minutes from the time the fire was discovered in the elevator shaft, practically the entire building was wrapped in flames. The whole interior became a roaring furnace and from basement to roof all was blazing at once. In rapid succession, the floors fell to the basement, carrying their toll of dead.

John P. Strohecher of New York, after a thrilling escape, reached the ground almost naked. He had no time to gather his apparel, the flames having burst into the room before he was awakened. Scores of men and women reached the ground, some of them with nothing on but their night clothes. None of the guests had time to save their effects. Dry goods and clothing stores were thrown open to men and women, and all who needed apparel were supplied without question.

R. S. Lewis of Chicago was driven from his room on the third floor to the window ledge. The flames were lapping about him, and he swung down from window to window. Firemen hoisted a ladder to aid him, but it became entangled in wires. He became exhausted, his grip loosened and he dropped just as the ladder was raised under his feet, but it broke his fall and he escaped with his life.

A. R. Sallet of New York had an almost similar experience. The flames were in his room when he awoke. He groped his way through the smoke to a window and crawled out upon the ledge and clung precariously edging away an inch at a time as the flames curled angrily from the windows. He was just about to take chances in a leap of four stories to the pavement beneath, when a hand was thrust down to him from the roof adjoining and he was pulled to safety.

One of the families in the building, that of Max Tolar, was in the Slocum disaster, and each member escaped at that time. Their good fortune followed them today, for all got out of the burning building without injury.

Although there is no evidence of incendiarism, the origin of the fire is so peculiar that the authorities will make a rigid investigation.

INVESTIGATE GERRY SOCIETY.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the first time in the thirty-two years of its existence as the closest of corporations, the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children—better known as the Gerry society—is to be investigated by a public officer.

Comptroller Herman Metz has ordered an official investigation of the society's books that he may satisfy himself of the ways in which the corporation spends the $50,000 it receives each year from the city of New York. Besides the doubt about the manner of expenditure of the city's $50,000, grave charges have recently been made that agents of the society are systematically "grafting" from saloon keepers who violate the laws by selling liquor to children.

DAVIS CANNOT GET IT.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today's developments in the Democratic political circles are that Senator Jeff Davis, candidate for delegate-at-large to the national convention, will be defeated beyond doubt.

Gov. Pindall's announcement that he would oppose Davis has met with universal approval from the anti-Davis element of the party, and all concede that the various factions opposed to Davis will unite upon Pindall and elect him overwhelmingly.

TAFT MAKES LARGE GAINS.

Now Has Three Hundred and Eighty Delegates.

Allies Get But Twelve During the Week.

Kentucky Primaries Show Secretary Strong.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary Taft has made large gains during the past week. Including contests, the figures show that he has 380 delegates.

His managers claim a total strength of 384, or within 107 of sufficient to give him the 491 necessary to nominate on the first ballot.

His managers give the Secretary an aggregate of 326 uncontested votes, with 125 delegates uninstructed, and 225 instructed for all other candidates. The two additional votes claimed for Taft and not justified by the figures, are attributed to the first Colorado District, whose delegates have not yet been chosen.

During the week but twelve delegates were instructed for candidates other than Taft. Of these Knox received the four delegates-at-large from Pennsylvania, Gov. Hughes gained six in New York, and Fairbanks received the two delegates from the second Kentucky District.

The results of the primaries in Kentucky were overwhelmingly for the Secretary of War, indicating that next week every other Kentucky district and the four delegates-at-large will be instructed for him. The State Central Committee this week decided the contest in the first Kentucky District against the contention of the Fairbanks delegates, and in favor of the Taft delegation.

FEARFUL.

ENTIRE FAMILY IS ANNIHILATED.

MEET DEATH IN BROOKLYN TENEMENT HOUSE FIRE.

Two Die from Jumping, While the Other Three Burn to Death in Each Other's Arms—One Other Fatality and Several More or Less Injured.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—An early morning fire in a brick tenement at No. 17 Humboldt street, a thickly populated district of Brooklyn, caused the death of six persons and the serious injury of four others today.

Every member of one family, consisting of a mother and four children, are among the dead.

There were many thrilling rescues by police and firemen, and it was due to their brave work that the death list was not larger. A half dozen or more persons were entrapped in the upper stories and were saved by jumping into life nets.

The financial loss is estimated at $10,000.

The dead are:
MRS. DORA ABRAMS.
SADIE ABRAMS.
CARRIE ABRAMS.
ANN ABRAMS.
CHARLES ABRAMS.
MRS. JENNIE COHEN.

The injured are: Mrs. May Noble, Mrs. Amelia Hirschhorn, Fannie Hirschhorn and Anna Hirschhorn, who suffered a broken shoulder from jumping from a window into a life net.

The fire started in the cellar of the building early this morning when the people comprising the eight families living in the house were asleep. It had gained much headway before it was discovered, and three policemen who arrived about this time repeatedly risked their livers in dragging people from the lower floors.

When the firemen came, the fire had spread through the entire rear of the house, where the fire escapes were, and the terror-stricken inmates of the upper floors had been driven to the front rooms, where they were hanging from windows, shrieking for help. Ladders and life nets were quickly brought into use, and most of the inmates were thus rescued.

The Abrams family lived on the third floor. The flames swept through their apartment, and their only way of escape was by jumping from the windows. Charles and Anna did this, and both struck on an iron railing and were found dead when picked up. Mrs. Abrams and her other children, Sadie and Carrie, were burned to death, clasped in each other's arms. Mrs. Abrams was the widow of Michael Abrams, who was an interpreter in the Brooklyn police courts for many years.

Trunk line presidents are to meet in New York on Thursday when the question of the increase in freight rates will be discussed.

GALE HITS FLEET.

ning of a new epoch in the development of the Pacific Ocean. It is estimated that there will be between 700,000 and 800,000 people in San Francisco on the day that the fleet arrives. The suburban cities adjacent to the bay and towns within a radius of fifty miles will practically be depopulated, and will contribute 200,000, while the railroad companies estimate that they will bring at least 150,000 from points beyond, as far east as Omaha, and from British Columbia on the north, to the international boundary on the south.

The Southern Pacific Company has placed 250 extra cars and sleepers in commission in addition to their regular equipment. Twenty special trains from California points and the Pacific Coast States are scheduled. Two specials, one of nine sleepers, carrying the Salt Lake City High School Cadets, who will be Admiral Evans's honorary escort, and another of ten Pullmans arrived this evening from Salt Lake City. Three extra trains are reported out of Portland by the Southern Pacific, and all trains north, east and south are running in two and three sections.

Gov. Sheldon and his party of 100 from Nebraska will arrive in a special train Tuesday night.

AMPLE ACCOMMODATIONS.

Practically all reservations in the big hotels are taken. The Fairmont stopped making reservations more than a month ago. While the hotels are rapidly filling up, the fleet reception committee, headed by ex-Mayor James D. Phelan, gives assurance that there will be ample accommodations. More than 50,000 rooms in San Francisco, Berkeley and Oakland have been listed with the committee which has established an information bureau at the Ferry building.

On Wednesday forenoon, from the vantage point of hill and steamer, will be seen the most imposing and spectacular parade in modern naval history, in which a total of forty-nine warships will enter through the Golden Gate in single line formation and drop anchor midst the roar of twelve-inch guns, the shouts of three-quarters of a million people and the shrieks of steam whistles.

Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, who, for the past month, has been under treatment at Paso Robles Hot Springs, has so far recovered that he will reassume command of the fleet at Santa Cruz Tuesday afternoon, just before sailing for this city.

The fleet will arrive off the Golden Gate Tuesday evening, where it will be joined by the Pacific squadron of armored cruisers of the West Virginia type, under command of Rear-Admiral Dayton, the following morning at 9 o'clock.

At noon the flagship Connecticut, flying the flag of Rear-Admiral Evans, will, on a full flood tide, lead the battleships, cruisers, armored and protected; torpedo destroyers, torpedo boats, gunboats, hospital, supply and other auxiliary vessels, past lighthouses into the portal where bay and ocean meet, and on past Land's End and Point Bonita.

ARMY WILL JOIN.

The big twelve-inch guns at Fort Baker, on the heights of the rocky Marin county shore, and the big disappearing guns in the batteries crowning the Presidio hills, will bay deep-mouthed welcome, contrary to all army precedent against saluting home vessels. That there may be as much noise and smoke from the guns as possible, Brig.-Gen. Funston, commanding the Department of California, has ordered that black powder be used instead of smokeless.

"When you break the rules," an army officer is quoted as saying, "you go the limit."

The fair way of the fleet through the bay will be lined with hundreds of excursion steamers and motor boats. The most stringent regulations have been issued for the policing and patrolling of the bay and heavy penalties will be imposed for any violations. Officers from the revenue cutter service, under command of Capt. Jacobs, will be on every vessel. Collector of the Port Frederick S. Stratton has ordered that every possible precaution be taken that there be no accidents or loss of life.

The fleet will anchor in four-column formation, commencing off Hunter's Point, the Connecticut, Minnesota, West Virginia and the torpedo destroyer Whipple, each at the head of a column lying abreast, south of the ferrybout Fairway, south of Goat Island.

The fleet will be between two and three hours in entering the harbor and anchoring.

FESTIVAL DAYS.

Beginning with a breakfast to Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, who will represent the President, on the morning of the day the fleet enters the bay, there will be ten days of festivities and a long list of dinners, balls, banquets and receptions. For the sailors, the Fleet Committee has established a naval clubhouse on the water front, and a naval pavilion at Eighth and Market streets, where many entertainments, athletic and sporting events, dear to the heart of the bluejacket, has been prepared.

A grand ball will also be given to the enlisted men at the Auditorium at which 2000 of San Francisco's prettiest maids will dance with the sailors of the fleet. This ball has been arranged for by Mrs. Arthur W. Cornwall of the Committee on Entertainments.

The various functions in honor of the officers will be the most brilliant social affairs ever prepared in this city. The warrant officers on the fleet, who are in a class by themselves, being neither enlisted men nor commissioned officers, will be given theater parties with their wives and be given a trip to the top of Mount Tamalpais, besides other entertainments that have been prepared for them.

Frederick W. Hall and Lieut.-Col. W. H. Barrett, the latter of the Governor's staff, will see that the warrant officers are not neglected.

Rear-Admiral Evans will make his headquarters at the St. Francis Hotel, but it is uncertain whether his physician, Surgeon Paul F. McDonald, of the Connecticut, will permit him to participate in any functions.

FIRST RECEPTION.

Wednesday evening the first formal reception, followed by a ball, given in honor of Secretary Metcalf and the officers of the fleet, will take place at the Fairmont, and on Thursday evening, in the name of the Governor, to Secretary Metcalf, the seven admirals and the commanding officers of the fleet.

Six hundred guests, among them Governors from seven States and the consular representatives of other nations, will sit down in the elaborately decorated banquet room.

On Friday evening the citizens of San Francisco will banquet Secretary Metcalf and 200 officers of the fleet at the St. Francis. This will be the official banquet given in the name of the city and it is hoped that Admiral Evans will be present.

The banquet will be followed by a ball at the Fairmont, given by the Friday Night Club, the exclusive social club, composed of San Francisco's "400." E. M. Greenway, manager of the club, and one of the most prominent social leaders in the city, will be master of ceremonies. This ball will be the most exclusive and brilliant social function of the festivities. Secretary of the Navy Metcalf and Mrs. Metcalf, the admirals and principal officers of the fleet, have accepted invitations, which are limited to 600.

On Thursday 15,000 men, 8000 from the fleet, 2500 troops from the Presidio, twelve companies of the National Guard, G.A.R. and Spanish War veterans, will parade. The route of the parade will be out Market street to Van Ness avenue and along that beautiful thoroughfare to California street. It will be headed by the troops from the Presidio under Gen. Funston. Rear-Admiral Evans, if strong enough, will sit in a carriage with Mayor Edward R. Taylor, at the head of the naval contingent. Secretary Metcalf, Gov. Gillett, the visiting Governors of the Pacific Coast States, and the consular representatives will be in the parade.

GREAT REVIEW.

On Friday, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, on board the Yorktown, will review the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets in the harbor. The warships will be dressed with flags and pennants, and the fighting tops and sides manned by the crew in solid blue lines. The four columns of white and buff ships in "full dress" will be an imposing sight and a spectacular figure will be the saluting of the flag of the Secretary of the Navy as the reviewing ship passes each one.

Saturday will be "Oakland" day, when the admirals and other officers of the fleet will be the guests of the city of Oakland. There will also be one or two "children's days" when only the children and those accompanying them will be admitted on the ships.

The following week will be taken up with many social functions, automobile rides for both officers and men, excursions and sightseeing trips to suburban towns and points of interest.

During the festivities here the city will be illuminated every night and bands stationed at various points will render music, afternoon and evening. No sailor overcome by the cordial hospitality of the city will be taken to the City Prison. Orders have been issued to the police that all disorderly sailors be turned over to the naval patrols.

SEE BIG TREES.

Santa Cruz Takes Three Thousand Bluejackets to See Giant Redwoods in Big Basin.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTA CRUZ (Cal.) May 3.—The visit of the bluejackets to the big trees was a feature of the Sunday programme at Santa Cruz for the entertainment of the Atlantic fleet.

More than 3000 sailors came ashore during the morning and boarded special trains for the grove, six miles distant. Hundreds of civilians also took advantage of the opportunity to visit the park, and the grounds were thronged with visitors all day.

The bluejackets were carried free on the trains. They spent an hour wandering among the great redwoods and participating in the programme of entertainment provided. Luncheon was served on long tables by the local committee at the base of a big tree. All of the famous trees were visited. The sailors carried away thousands of souvenirs of their visit.

The officers of the first squadron will make the journey tomorrow, and a barbecue will be served in the grove. The event is one of the features of the visit to Santa Cruz.

Rear-Admiral Thomas spent all day aboard the flagship Connecticut, going over his private business and matters connected with the fleet, which in the rush of entertainment had been neglected. He sent a telegram to Admiral Evans, recommending that the Connecticut be sent to Monterey early Tuesday morning for the purpose of bringing the admiral here to join the fleet. This is on account of the rough water off the local port, which has made landing very difficult. If this is done the Connecticut will return to Santa Cruz some time before noon on Tuesday, and Admiral Evans will at once assume command of the fleet.

Rear-Admiral Thomas probably will go to the Minnesota on Monday evening, although he will not lower his flag on the Connecticut until that ship goes to Monterey, or Admiral Evans boards her here.

The ships continue to experience rough weather, and today but few visitors were able to go aboard.

DISASTROUS.

SHIP STRIKES OTTER ROCK.

Lumber Schooner Goes to Pieces on Beach.

Two Would-be Rescuers Perish in Surf.

Crew Believed to Be in Great Danger.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A lumber-laden steam schooner, whose name has not yet been learned, struck Otter Rock on the Oregon coast near Yaquina Bay at noon today.

The fate of her crew can be only guessed.

Two members of the life-saving crew that attempted to reach the wreck from the Yaquina Bay station, near Newport, were drowned.

The spot where the vessel went on the reef is about ten miles north of Newport, the nearest telephone or telegraph station. Couriers have gone over from Newport, but when they can return is not known, as the coast is rough between those two points, and the stages of the journey cannot be traveled except at favorable stages of the tide.

Otter Rock is half a mile off shore, and is well out of the track of southbound vessels, but north-bound steamers often come in close to escape the northwest winds.

It is believed that the ill-fated vessel is one from Gray's Harbor, she having had about time to reach Otter Rock by noon today if she left Gray's Harbor last night. It is not thought to be a vessel from the Columbia River, since it is one that has been delayed or been beaten about by contrary winds.

Meager advices from Newport are to the effect that the life-saving crew and its boat overturned in the surf while putting out to the wreck from the beach opposite Otter Rock. The steamer was said to have been badly waterlogged when she struck, and the heavy seas are breaking over her up. That the crew is in great danger is believed, for Otter Rock is well off shore, and there is deep water between it and the surf.

STRIKE COPPER IN WATER WELL.

RICH DEPOSIT UNCOVERED IN NEW MEXICO.

Veins of Mineral of Unusual Richness is Penetrated by Borers—Ore Is Also Rich in Silver—Found in Three Different Places a Mile Apart and Roosevelt County is Excited.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Eastern New Mexico in general and Roosevelt county in particular is excited over the discovery of a deposit of copper which may be that of Michigan or Montana.

Three days ago while drilling a well for water on a homestead claim ten miles south of the town of La Lande a drill penetrated a vein of native copper of peculiar richness. The news spread rapidly, and within twenty-four hours after the discovery had become known four hundred claims were staked out in the immediate vicinity. The rush was on. Livery men have had their rigs driven to death and their rigs worn out; men and women have traversed distance and hungry, but in spite of the ills incident to sand and sun, and miles and other hardships, they continue to pour into the district of township 1, north, to locate and stake out mining claims.

A government mining expert has arrived on the scene to ascertain the exact quality of the deposit. A test made by a local chemist shows that it bears an excellent quality of ore of unusual richness. There is also a high percentage of silver. The evidence as to the extent of the vein and the thickness of the ore has been found in three different wells a mile apart, and it is well it required two days' time for the drill to pass through the layer of metal-bearing ore.

The situation has arisen out of conflicting privileges of the homesteaders and those establishing mineral claims. This is because the claims are staked out over seven or eight sections taken up by settlers under the homestead laws. The latter are resenting what they regard as an intrusion by the mineral claimants, and may carry the matter into the courts for solution, but it is the opinion of attorneys that the case will be against the farmers, as the title to the land to them by the government is only for agricultural purposes, and will probably be rescinded when it is pro

SHIP STRIKES OTTER ROCK.

Lumber Schooner Goes to Pieces on Beach.

Two Would-be Rescuers Perish in Surf.

Crew Believed to Be in Great Danger.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A lumber-laden steam schooner whose name has not yet been learned, struck Otter Rock on the Oregon coast near Yaquina Bay at noon today.

The fate of her crew can be only guessed.

Two members of the life-saving crew who attempted to reach the wreck from the Yaquina Bay station, near Newport, were drowned.

The spot where the vessel went on the reef is about ten miles north of Newport, the nearest telephone or telegraph station. Couriers have gone down from Newport, but when they can return is not known, as the coast is rough between those two points, and the latter stages of the journey cannot be traveled except at favorable stages of the tide.

Otter Rock is half a mile off shore, and is well out of the track of southbound vessels, but north-bound steamers often come in close to escape the northwest winds.

It is believed that the ill-fated vessel came from Gray's Harbor, she having left about time to reach Otter Rock by noon today if she left Gray's Harbor last night. It is not thought to be a vessel from the Columbia River, which is one that has been delayed and has been about by contrary winds.

Passenger advices from Newport are to the effect that the life-saving crew had put to sea overturned in the surf while putting out to the wreck from the station opposite Otter Rock. The schooner was said to have been badly damaged when she struck, and the waves are breaking her up.

While the crew is in great danger is believed, for Otter Rock is well off shore, and there is deep water between it and the surf.

LUCKY FIND.

STRIKE COPPER IN WATER WELL.

DEPOSIT UNCOVERED IN NEW MEXICO.

Mineral of Unusual Richness Illustrated by Borers—Ore Rich in Silver—Found in Different Places a Mile Apart in Bennett County Is Excited.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Eastern New Mexico around and Roosevelt county in particular is excited over the discovery of a deposit of copper which may rival that of Michigan or Montana.

Several days ago while drilling a well for water on a homestead claim ten miles south of the town of La Lande the drill penetrated a vein of native copper of peculiar richness. The news spread rapidly, and within twenty-four hours after the discovery had become known several hundred claims were staked out in the immediate vicinity. The rush was on. Livery men have had their rigs driven to death and their regular men and women have traveled afoot and hungry, but in spite of this incident to sand and sun, for miles and other hardships, they continue to pour into the new township 1, north, to locate and carry out mining claims.

A government mining expert has arrived on the scene to ascertain the exact quality of the deposit. A test made by a local chemist shows that it runs an excellent quality of ore of unusual richness. There is also a high percentage of silver. The extent as to the extent of the vein, the thickness of the vein is not known, but the ore has been found in different wells a mile apart. It is said it required two days' time for the drill to pass through the entire metal-bearing ore.

The situation has arisen out of the mining privileges of the homesteaders and those establishing mineral claims. This because the claims were staked out over seven or eight sections taken up by settlers under the homestead laws. The latter, resenting what they regard as intrusion by the mineral claimants, may carry the matter into the courts for solution, but it is said by attorneys that the case will favor the farmers, as the original land to them by the government only for agricultural purposes will probably be rescinded when it is proven valuable for mineral.

The discovery of this great deposit is the result of the merest accident. A farmer struck the bit of his drill to have it sharpened. The blacksmith was an old mine driller, who examined the bit and declared the fire he was sure that it was copper ore on it. He professed willingness to go with the farmer as well to help him operate the claim, which had become distasteful there he secured specimens of the ore, and the next day

Some profess to believe that the whole is all a dream, and say that the stakes for kindling wood, plow up the holes, for there are crops to copper. It is reported the existence of copper in paying of the Territory was known a few men who had taken claims there, and that they were quietly occupy their land and keep their homesteads before any announcement of their

BOARD GETS TREAT.

Gift to History Department at Berkeley Accepts Offer from Big Southern University.

[BY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Payson J. Treat, instructor in history department at Stanford University, has accepted an offer from Harvard University, and next fall college year will be Professor at the eastern university among the general lines followed here, the delivery of lectures upon the history of the Orient.

Under the general head of "Tropical Colonization," he will outline the present method of the English, Dutch, French and German in managing their dependencies in the Far East, and will give closer study to the Philippines and other American colonies.

Treat's lectures have been much enjoyed by large classes at Stanford University this year, and his loss is regretted. It is hinted that his application for leave is simply a polite way of resigning, as he has little intention of returning to Stanford.

The methods adopted by Professor Clark, and indorsed by Dr. Jordan, have been opposed by Professors Fanard and Treat. Fanard, who is the most popular man in the faculty, goes to Yale, and now Treat goes to Harvard.

PILL KILLS BOY.

CHOKES HIM TO DEATH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

RENO (Nev.) May 3.—Five-year-old Tommy Wogan of Sparks was given a pill by his parents last night.

"It is down," he said, after drinking a glass of water his father gave him.

Then the boy began to choke, and turned black in the face. A doctor was called, but the boy choked to death before the physician could reach the house.

BREADSTUFFS MOVE.

FOREIGN EXPORTS HEAVY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TACOMA (Wash.) May 3.—During April Tacoma exported a large amount of wheat and flour, the foreign shipments of the latter being larger than usual, due to a slight activity in the original market and cheap freight rates.

To the United Kingdom and Japan, 689,783 bushels of wheat, valued at $604,656, were cleared at the local customhouse.

The flour exports amounted to 74,111 barrels, and were valued at $313,284.

St. Louis Association Receives Messages from All Parts of United States Assuring Support of Financial, Mercantile, Civic and Industrial Organization.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Forty-four financial, industrial, mercantile and civic associations of St. Louis will accept this week the platform and prospectus of the "Give Us a Rest and Sunshine Campaign" of the National Prosperity Association of St. Louis.

Ninety-eight of the foremost similar bodies of the United States have signified their willingness to participate in the prosperity movement, and it is assumed, judging by messages already received, that others will respond promptly and enthusiastically.

Among the California associations that have responded are the Los Angeles Board of Trade and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. Fourteen Texas associations are in line, and many from Oklahoma, as well as the East.

"It should be understood," said William F. Lewellyn Saunders, secretary of the St. Louis Business Men's League, "that no organization or corporation will be at any expense. The cost of spreading the campaign throughout the United States will be borne by St. Louis. The National Prosperity Association demands no dues and levies no assessments. St. Louis has provided for meeting all expenses."

CRITICAL.

ILLNESS CAUSES FRIENDS ALARM.

CLEVELAND IN SERIOUS CONDITION DESPITE DENIAL.

Precautions to Observe Secrecy and Keep the Patient Undisturbed Redoubled and Extra Nurse Is Summoned—No One Is Allowed to See the Ex-President.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAKEWOOD (N. J.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News which became known today from the sick room of former President Grover Cleveland in the Lakewood Hotel, point convincingly to the conclusion that his condition is most alarming.

The precautions taken to observe secrecy and keep the patient undisturbed have been redoubled, and it is now difficult to even penetrate the grounds in the vicinity of the great lonely hostelry.

Dr. Joseph B. Bryant is keeping constantly within calling distance of Mr. Cleveland, and it is said there is no certainty as to when he will return to the city. He has been here since Friday. Previously he only made flying trips. Dr. Lockwood of New York is in consultation with Dr. Bryant and comes here frequently.

It is now learned that the only local physician who has been consulted is Dr. I. H. Hance. He refuses to discuss the case. Your representative and others who are watching the Lakewood Hotel, and have authoritative knowledge of some things which have transpired inside, cannot reconcile them with the statement made by Mrs. Cleveland yesterday, through New York sources, tha ther husband was not dangerously ill and was recovering. It is certain that Mr. Cleveland is too ill to be moved from the hotel, which closed for guests two weeks ago, and it is equally certain that he is confined stilctly to his bed.

Today a third nurse joined the two others on duty. In the early part of his illness the ex-President had but one nurse. Later a second came, and now the third makes it possible to have a nurse at his bedside constantly. They work in shifts of eight hours each.

No one outside of his family, the physicians and nurses have seen Mr. Cleveland for weeks. This afternoon several of his Princeton friends drove over in automobiles. They fared no better than do the reporters. In each instance the visitors were told that Mr. Cleveland could not be seen.

PLAINFIELD (N. J.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stricken while visiting a friend Randall H. Ludlow, a lawyer with offices at No. 100 Broadway, New York, died in this city this morning from acute Bright's disease and valvular congestion of the heart. He was a well known football player in the University of California, a member of the Lambs Club of New York, and resided at No. 116 West Eighty-fourth street, Manhattan. His father was the late Brig.-Gen. Benjamin C. Ludlow, U.S.A. He was unmarried.

DROWNING.

YOUTH MEETS STRANGE DEATH.

Sinks in Lake, but Has no Water in Lungs.

Believed to Have Held His Breath to Suffocation.

Was Captain of the Berkeley High School Team.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pretty Lake Lagunita was the scene of a strange tragedy here today.

While out canoeing this morning, John H. Service, captain of the Berkeley High School track team, and one of the entries in the big interscholastic meet yesterday, overturned his canoe not fifty feet from land and met his death in ten feet of water.

Dr. Wilbur says the boy was not drowned, as there was no water in his lungs. Under water he must have held his breath until suffocated.

The first knowledge of the disaster came when Service was discovered struggling in the water. N. K. Carpenter, a student, who lives in the boathouse, put out in a boat, but just as he reached the scene the young athlete went under and did not come to the surface again. For two hours swimmers dived to find the body, and the bottom was dragged without result. About noon one of the dragging hooks caught, and the body was carried ashore and all means of resuscitation tried without avail.

Service was overturned in the southeast corner of the lake, where long weeds grow up from the bottom, and it is thought that he became entangled in these when he went under.

WAKING UP.

BREWERS TO ENTER FIGHT.

SCARED BY TEMPERANCE WAVE TO REFORM SALOONS.

Coming Convention of Their Association in Milwaukee Next June to Discuss Ways and Means of Eliminating Objectionable Features from Such Places.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new movement of tremendous importance and prophetic significance in the direction of reforming the American saloon has materialized, and is due to be crystallized into definite action within the next six weeks.

This movement, which is rapidly gaining headway, is within the ranks of the liquor interests themselves. The question of elevating the saloon business will be the topic of prime importance at the national convention of the United States Brewers' Association, which will be held in Milwaukee June 8, 9 and 10.

The action of the convention will be the answer to the anti-liquor agitation that has been sweeping the country in the last two years, culminating this spring in disastrous losses of business to the saloon interests.

The more reputable brewers, who constitute the controlling influence in the trade, have come to the conclusion that the best cure for the anti-saloon agitation will be decisive action in the direction of removing the cause of offense.

Among the topics to be discussed are the following:

Measures for divorcing the saloon business from gambling, slot machines and vice.

Local option and prohibition laws recently enacted by State Legislatures.

The Sunday-closing movement.

The saloon in politics.

The treating evil; should it be discouraged?

The free lunch, should it be abolished?

Pursues and Captures Young Tough Who Assailed Young Lady at Hancock, Md.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CUMBERLAND (Md.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Father H. A. Nagengast, rector of St. Peter's Roman Catholic parish, Hancock, Md., last night proved his chivalry in a most strenuous manner.

A young lady, Miss Mamie Murray of Hancock, was passing along Main street at a dark spot directly opposite the Western Maryland station, when she was suddenly seized by the throat by a drunken youth.

Father Nagengast happened along, and the young lady made a plaintive appeal for help. The fellow at the same time took to his heels. Father Nagengast, himself an athlete and a sprinter, was at once in hot pursuit.

After passing through alleys and around dark corners for about five minutes, the priest captured the tough after a struggle, and handed him over to the police.

ROBBERS MADE BIG HAUL.

Secured Nearly $500,000 from Express Car on Panhandle Railroad, Instead of $600, as Reported.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Instead of the loss occasioned by the robbing of the Adams Express Company car on the Panhandle Railroad last Thursday night being $600, as has been stoutly maintained by officials of the company up to today, it is now rumored that the loss will reach close to $500,000.

The robbery is said by members of the Pittsburgh detective force to be one of the biggest ever pulled off in the United States.

Today men and boys found more gold coin and gold leaf in the vicinity of the scene of the hold-up at Walker's Mills. A number of $5 gold pieces were found, as was also a quantity of gold leaf. Hundreds of men and boys searched the neighborhood this afternoon for the stolen plunder, which many people believe has been "cached" by the robbers. No big find was reported, however.

More Pinkerton detectives arrived here today from New York and Chicago, and the county is overrun with them. Up to date, not a single arrest has been made.

PROTEST IN NOVEL WAY.

TRENTON (N. J.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Convicts at the New Jersey State prison inaugurated a "yelling" strike in the new male wing today when all the windows were closed, preventing them from flirting with a number of girls and women who gathered in the street below.

On the plea that the shutting of the windows prevented proper ventilation of the wing, the prisoners all joined in the yelling. For a time the prison seemed more like a lunatic asylum than a penitentiary.

The debate on the licensing bill in the House of Commons on Monday promises to be a memorable one, owing to the vast financial and labor interests involved.

The Regular Democratic Caucus Tickets will be headed in the various Assembly Districts as follows:

70th—A. C. HARPER
71st—I. B. DOCKWEILER
72nd—MILTON K. YOUNG
73rd—MARTIN F. BETKOUSKI
74th—NATHAN COLE, Jr.

All of these candidates are pledged or have been instructed by their caucuses to use every honorable effort to elect a delegation to the Democratic National Convention at Denver instructed for

William J. Bryan, for President

ANTHONY SCHWAMM,
Chairman Democratic County Central Committee.

Attention of the friends of William J. Bryan is called to two facts:

First—The regular Democratic caucus tickets are instructed for Mr. Bryan.

Second—The self-appointed Democratic League tickets are not instructed for Mr. Bryan and the candidates thereon are presumably opposed to his nomination.

A vote for the regular democratic caucus ticket is therefore a certain vote for Mr. Bryan.

LIVELIEST OF ALL PRIMARIES.

Autos and Telephones Will Cut Big Figure.

Gumshoe Work of Bosses of Lissner League.

Split Among the Democrats Widens Into Chasm.

Automobiles and telephones will play an important part in tomorrow's primary elections; each of the 183 polling places in Los Angeles city will have a telephone connection with the headquarters of three political organizations, and almost every auto in the city, either for pleasure or for hire, will be pressed into service.

Factional fights in both the Democratic and the Republican ranks have provided places for all the men who do politics, big and little, and indications are that these primaries will be livelier and busier than others in the past where real patronage was at stake.

The Republican leaders have been conducting a campaign of education, the chief aim of which has been to let the Republican voters know just what issues are at stake and just what the Lissner league stands for. The attendance at the caucuses and at the district conventions has been the largest in the history of national politics here, and the vote at the primaries will probably be at least three times that of four years ago.

HIGH-WIRE ARTISTS.

A few high-wire artists have been put to the front by the Lissner league to attract the attention of the Republicans, while the real work of the campaign has been conducted along gumshoe lines. Covina is the only place at which the insurgents went into caucus and convention; there they were beaten badly.

All the Lissner tickets were prepared by kitchen cabinets; these originated in politics with the Tweed ring of New York. It was to break this chain that the State law was enacted providing for public caucuses and district conventions.

The Lissner leaders admit that they could not hold their assembly district meetings in the open because they could not control them if the Republican voters of the district were permitted to take a part. Their argument is that a few men of the Lissner type know much better whom the people should send to the State convention than the people themselves know.

This style was copied by "Eddie" Morris, a local Democratic leader. He announced at his caucus Saturday night that the names of his delegates would be submitted later. This is just what the Lissnerites have done in every precinct of the city. Morris is held up as a political vampire by the people and persons who are seeking to justify similar action on the part of Lissner.

MACHINES COME HIGH.

Automobile dealers and owners have struck a sudden windfall in the increasing demand for the use of machines on election day. Last night $25 was the lowest figure at which a machine could be secured for six hours; and in addition to the regular hire the user must replace all punctured tires at his own expense.

The sad experiences of past elections has taught automobile men that the mortality rate for tires is surprisingly high on election days. There are precincts on the east side of town to which machines are seldom able to make more than one trip. A packed knife in the hands of a skillful ward heeler can put a $500 machine out of business until new tires are secured—and these are not so easy to get on election day.

Wire tapping is a very common form of crime during campaign time. This trick has been worked here to fine advantage in past elections. During the Powers campaign an open switch carried most of the exclusive Republican dispatches to a Democratic sentry.

RUSH FOR THE BOOKS.

This year there is a lively competition for the first look at the precinct registration books; it is the first time that the political faith of a voter has been a matter of record. Some of the broken-down politicians in the Lissner league suggested that it would be a good plan to get hold of the precinct books yesterday. Their precinct workers were sent to the election inspectors in almost every precinct to ask that the book be taken from its box for their inspection.

A number of the inspectors rang up the Republican League to report that the Lissner men had been after the books. In a few instances it is reported that they secured possession of them. This may lead to prosecutions, as it is a misdemeanor to "mutilate or attempt to unlock said register before the polls are opened on election morning."

Numerous complaints have reached the Republican County Central Committee of the high-handed way in which the Lissnerites are attempting to dictate the manner of conducting the primaries in country precincts. The fact is that the primaries outside the cities of Los Angeles and Pasadena are held only as a voluntary concession from the regulars to the opposition. The county pays none of the expense, the election officers serve without pay and the money for poll rentals and incidentals comes from the County Central Committee.

Yet the Lissnerites who expect to take part in the primary without paying any of the bills are protesting and issuing orders concerning the manner in which these primaries shall be held and the kind of ballots that shall be used.

If the regular committeemen desire they can prevent the use of any of the stickers prepared by the Lissnerites at the county primaries. The County Central Committee has decided to permit their use but the committeemen are disposed to resent the dictation of the charity voters.

DEMOCRATIC RUMPUS.

The battle between the Democratic Club and the Democratic League is on in earnest. The leaders of the club held a number of conferences yesterday and arranged to regain at least a portion of the ground they lost Saturday night when the members of the League slipped in unexpectedly and captured the caucus in the Seventy-third Assembly District.

In this Saturday night battle "Patsy" Clark and President Germain of the Democratic Club were beaten in their own caucus. They were taken unawares by the announcement of the league leaders that they would not go into the caucuses. After this announcement was made the league quietly rounded up enough silk stockings to put the "cotton socks" in the Seventy-third out of commission.

Martin Betkouski heads the successful caucus ticket in this district. In a conference with the club leaders yesterday, he said he would support Harper and Cole for delegates-at-large. It appears that the contest was one concerning the personnel of the delegates to the State convention rather than over the issues involved. The leaders of the Democratic Club said last night that they will support the winning caucus ticket in the Seventy-third District, and that there will be no contest.

"EDDIE" NOT NAPPING.

A similar attempt was made to capture the caucus in the Seventy-fifth Assembly District. "Eddie" Morris proved too wily a politician to be trapped; in place of attempting to name his ticket in the face of the opposition he managed to secure an adjournment and the caucus in this precinct will be held tonight. Forewarned, the Cole and Harper forces will be there in sufficient force to outvote the opposition, unless the opposition develops surprising strength.

The pronunciamentos issued by the rival Democratic camps are highly seasoned. The club forces assert that the first intemperate literature was issued by the league, and that some of their peppery productions are replies to unwarranted attacks.

Nathan Cole has been attacked for attending a Herrin conference at Santa Barbara; he has proved an alibi by showing by clippings from the St. Louis papers that he was in that city at the time the conference is supposed to have been held.

In a statement issued yesterday from the club camp, it is alleged that a number of the delegates on the league ticket are openly opposed to Bryan for President. The club challenges the league to prove that its delegates would vote for Bryan instructions if they should go to the State convention.

W. R. Burke is incensed at this counter-attack. He says he is the original Bryan man in Southern California, and that the Democratic League is for Bryan.

Isidore Dockweiler and Nathan Cole are both delegates on the club ticket. Cole won the tactical advantage of having the caucus that nominated Dockweiler adopt resolutions indorsing Cole for delegate-at-large.

COLORED VOTERS PROTEST.

"Your bread and butter" is the theme which the colored voters will discuss in a meeting to be held tonight at Scott's Hall, No. 551 Central avenue. It was in this hall that Lissner attempted to organize a Lincoln-Roosevelt club a week ago.

A number of prominent colored men have protested against the unwarranted use of their names in connection with the Lissner meeting.

"Lissner might as well understand right now that he can't mix us up in any of his union labor combinations," said a colored Republican last night. "The unions have never done anything good for the colored men; their aim is to keep us from getting work. We are not fools enough to walk behind the cart of Lissner and his union labor allies."

CIVIL SERVICE GRINDS.

A number of civil-service men at the City Hall are protesting because the heads of their offices are permitted to wade waist deep in the political pool, while the employés are prohibited from even so much as sitting on the bank. On the Lissner tickets for State delegates appear the names of six city officials; most of these have been devoting their time lately to building political fences.

In their offices are scores of men who are interested in politics, too, but who do not even dare attend a convention lest they be dismissed for taking an active part in partisan politics.

More latitude is allowed the policemen and firemen than the employés of other departments; these are under the immediate control of the Police and Fire commissions and the civil service board has nothing to do with their dismissal from service. The result of this is that the employés of the police and fire departments are not afraid to do a bit of precinct politics during their time off, a pleasure in which the employés directly under the civil service board do not dare to indulge.

APPEAL TO WORLD.

LIBERTY LOVERS VOICE PROTEST.

POLES STAND AS UNIT AGAINST EXPROPRIATION BILL.

Madame Modjeska and Count Bozenta Participate in Action of Their Countrymen and in Observance of Anniversary of Poland's Short-lived Constitution.

Madame Modjeska and her husband, Count Bozenta, were leading participants in the observance of the one hundred and seventeenth anniversary of the establishment of Poland's constitution, yesterday, at Hammonia Hall, by the Polish Liberty Association of this city. The large assemblage of Polish-Americans protested against the expropriation bill recently passed by the German Diet.

"While the local association alone may not have great influence, it is one of hundreds of similar organizations which are taking steps to appeal to the civilized world against the act," stated W. J. Miller, president of the society. "There are more than 2,000,000 Poles in this country. Today, the majority of them have taken action similar to ours. The memorial which sets forth our grievance is to be printed in four languages and circulated throughout the English-speaking world."

Mr. Miller read a paper, giving a brief history of Poland's struggle for independence. The constitution, which had its birth in 1791, only lived one year, as Catherine of Russia ordered it repealed. She enforced her edict by sending 45,000 soldiers into the country.

Madame Mojeska, who received an ovation when she entered the hall, recited two stirring patriotic poems in Polish. At their conclusion, a little girl ran forward with a big bouquet of roses for the gifted actress. Madame Mojeska caught the child in her arms and kissed her, and the audience applauded vigorously.

Count Bozenta read a paper, in English, setting forth the wrongs of his native land. He stated that the German government has planned to buy the lands of Poles and settle them with Germans. The money used for the purchase of these lands is raised by general taxation, partly paid by the Poles.

Other alleged acts of oppression were enumerated, among them the compelling of Polish children to learn religion in the schools in the German language. While not able to foresee any method for obtaining redress, the speaker stated that the united protest of all descendants of Polish families will have its weight with liberty-loving people all over the world.

Copies are to be sent the President, members of his Cabinet, Congressmen, representatives of foreign powers, the press and thousands of religious and educational institutions.

Patriotic songs were sung by girls and boys and great enthusiasm was evoked by a young man, dressed in ancient Polish costume, who gave a recitation about the struggle for liberty.

FRAGRANT MEMORY.

ALTARS DECKED WITH BLOSSOMS.

NOBLE LIFE OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL RECALLED.

Catholic Church Bearing His Name Observes Feast of Translation of Relics by Pontifical High Mass, Bishop Being Celebrant—Large Class Confirmed at Holy Cross.

The feast of the translation of the relics of St. Vincent de Paul was observed yesterday at St. Vincent's Church, corner of Grand avenue and Washington street, by a pontifical solemn high mass at 10:45 o'clock. Bishop Conaty was the celebrant; Rev. E. A. Antil, C.M., assistant priest; Rev. Francis J. Conaty, deacon; Rev. George J. George, C.M., sub-deacon; Rev. J. J. Martin, C.M., and Rev. T. A. Lilley, C.M., deacons of honor, and Rev. James E. Lilley, master of ceremonies. Within the sanctuary were Rev. B. S. Conaty, Rev. Raphael Fuhr, O.F.M.; Rev. Edward Lanney, O.F.M., and the clergy of St. Vincent's College.

The main altar was profusely decorated with white carnations, that of the Sacred Heart with red carnations and the Blessed Virgin's with white blossoms.

The sermon was preached by Rev. James Reardon of Long Beach. His subject was "Charity," the virtue for which St. Vincent de Paul was most noted. In his life he collected and expended millions of dollars in doing good.

Dvorak's mass in D minor was rendered by the choir under the direction of Organist T. W. Weill. The soloists were Mrs. Harriett Miller, soprano; Miss Blanche Disbee, contralto; F. Power, tenor, and A. G. Pfannkucher, bass. The orchestra was directed by Prof. E. H. Clarke. For the processional "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus" was played.

After the mass, the bishop and visiting clergy were entertained at dinner at St. Vincent's College.

AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

Yesterday was also the feast day of Holy Cross Church, at South Main and Forty-seventh streets. At the 8 o'clock mass thirty-three persons received their first communion. Rev. Thomas Fahey, the pastor, was the celebrant. At 10:30 o'clock, Father Leo, O.S.B., celebrated high mass, and in the evening Bishop Conaty confirmed a large class. The clergy assisting were Rev. R. A. Conaty, Rev. F. A. Conaty, Rev. James O'Neil, Rev. George Donohue, Rev. P. J. McGrath, Rev. J. Palmer, Rev. E. Gerardi, Rev. V. Organisciak, Rev. Æ. H. Brady, Rev. P. Daly and Rev. Father Aloysius, O.F.M.

FIGHT ON LOCAL OPTION.

Illinois Legislator Will Try to Restore Saloons to Former Status, but Opposition Will Be Strong.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Direct and definite efforts to effect the repeal of the new local-option law will be made at the adjourned session of the Legislature which reconvenes Tuesday.

Walter A. Lantz, member of the House of Representatives from the Seventh District, announced today that he has drawn a bill which he will introduce Tuesday and which will provide simply for wiping out the local-option law from the statute books and restore the status of the saloon to the situation as it existed prior to the three local-option elections which have been held.

The introduction of the Lantz bill is looked forward to generally as the opening of one of the most desperate fights which Springfield ever has witnessed with the possibility of more spectacular features than attended even the passage of the local-option bill last year.

It was announced last night by the officers of the First Church of Christ (Scientist) that a new by-law bearing on the subject of peace has been adopted. It reads: "It shall be the duty of members of the mother church and of its branch churches to promote peace on earth and good will toward men. But to do this, it is not needful to form outside organizations. Members of the mother church shall not hereafter become members of peace societies, but shall promote the welfare of all mankind by demonstrating the rules of divine love."

The Offer of Free Office Treatment Generously Given For All Diseases.

CALL TODAY—BRING THIS ADV.

The skill, faith and fame of the specialists of the Los Angeles Medical Institute accounts for the large attendance and the general interest. It would be a very simple minded person who would attempt to account by the offer of free services in and of itself, for the crowds thronging our offices, for the public interest, for the general gratitude and for the very avalanche of letters from sick people. The fact that we are giving our services free does not account of any of these things. Of course sick people like to feel that they are receiving medical care at a small cost, but this is only a minor consideration. What sick people want to feel and know, what their loving and anxious families and friends want to feel and know, is that they are receiving the very best medical treatment that can be obtained. If our treatment was not the very best our offer would be received with indifference. Bad treatment is bad, even if given free.

No, the throngs of patients are accounted for by the fact that all these people know that they are being admitted to the benefits of a practice that has commanded for years the respect of the profession and the public. They know that they are obtaining care and treatment that they could not obtain anywhere else for any fee, high or low. They know that under this opportunity they may be relieved of diseases which no other method of treatment has been able to even benefit. They know that under this opportunity they receive the best treatment and best professional skill.

They know that under this opportunity they are going to be cured. And it is this that accounts for the throngs of people, the interest and gratitude, and avalanche of letters and (what is more important than anything else) for the warm and hearty commendation of right-thinking people.

RAILROAD RECORD.

THEIR INCOME IS CURTAILED.

Trainmen Lose by Operation of New Law.

Wages Go to Pay Additional Necessary Crews.

Long Rest Period at Home End Also Reduced.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Statements by railroad operating officials indicate that as a result of the Federal sixteen-hour law, which went into effect March 4, freight trainmen have suffered a reduction of their income in numerous instances where rearrangement of runs has necessitated employment of additional crews.

On the Union Pacific and other roads some trainmen are earning 25 per cent. less than before. One freight run on the Union Pacific of 164 miles is now divided into two, one 117 miles long, and the other 47 miles long. The longer run is operated as before, while the other is operated by having a crew go out and come back the same day. This arrangement makes necessary the employment of additional crews, and results in a reduction of the average income.

The second important result of the law has been to equalize the rest periods of those crews who formerly took a long rest at the home end of their runs and a short one at the other end.

Fighting Rate Reductions.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3.—Six express companies doing business in Indiana, four of whom through their receivers, brought suit in the Federal District Court today against the members of the railroad commission of Indiana, to enjoin them from taking steps to reduce express rates in the State from 16 to 12 per cent.

DISGRACES FORCE?

OFFICER SAID TO HAVE HIT WOMAN.

PAINTER MAKES GRAVE CHARGE, WHICH IS CORROBORATED.

Up Tree Looking at Birds' Nests When Patrolman, in Plain Clothes, Orders Him Down—Wife Opens Policeman's Coat to Look for Star and Gets Blows.

After a desperate fight E. V. Owens, a painter at No. 2186 East Eleventh street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Varey on the charge of battery. Owens declares that Varey struck his wife, and several witnesses corroborate his statement.

When the officer passed the house, he saw Owens in a tree, and asked him what he was doing. Owens asked who he was, and Varey replied that he was a policeman, but he was in civilian clothes and refused to show his star, as it is said. He ordered Owens to climb down.

Mrs. Owens heard the conversation and came out. When she walked up to Varey and pulled open his coat to see his star, it is alleged that he struck her in the face. Owens jumped from the tree and attacked the officer, striking him several times.

Varey drew his revolver, compelled Owens to throw up his hands, and arrested him under arrest.

The painter says that there are several birds' nests in the tree which his wife has been watching. He saw some boys yesterday trying to rob the nests, and he climbed up to see if they had succeeded.

CHAIR WIELDED VIGOROUSLY.

Young Men Quarrel and One Lays Bare Other's Skull—Woman in the Case.

During a quarrel at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Miller, No. 1356 Lawrence street, yesterday, William M. Bradbender received a laceration on the left side of the head which laid bare the skull. He told the police the blow had been inflicted with a chair wielded by Ralph Boshearur.

For some time Bradbender and Boshearur have been paying attention to Miss May MacIntosh, who lives with the Millers. When the young men met at the house yesterday, Boshearur attempted to eject Bradbender, according to the latter's story. A patrolman was summoned, who took both men to Central Station.

Boshearur told the desk sergeant that Bradbender had made himself a nuisance to the Miller family and that he attempted to eject him, only after he had insisted upon disturbing the peace of the household.

Boshearur was released from custody, but Bradbender was held and will be booked in the Police Court this morning. His wound was dressed at the Receiving Hospital.

Youth Claiming Kinship With Robley D. Evans Arrested by St. Louis Police.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A youth giving the name of Robley D. Evans, and claiming to be a cousin of the admiral, is under arrest at the Manchester-avenue Police station because he tried to buy shoes with a check signed "U. S. Naval Reserve."

Machinist Schachnic of No. 3749 Manchester avenue, with whom Evans bargained for the shoes, was not accustomed to the check and refused to cash the check. The check was drawn on the Third National Bank, and the fact that United States Naval Reserves have no account there.

Evans stoutly maintains that he is a native and namesake of the admiral, but cannot explain how the check came into his possession. He is being held pending investigation and an effort will be made to learn whether he is any relation to Admiral Evans.

RAILROAD RECORD.

THEIR INCOME IS CURTAILED.

Employes Lose by Operation of New Law.

Wages Go to Pay Additional Necessary Crews.

Long Rest Period at Home Is Also Reduced.

[DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Statements by railroad operating officials indicate that as a result of the federal sixteen-hour law, which went into effect March 4, freight trainmen have suffered a reduction of their income in numerous instances where the requirement of runs has necessitated the employment of additional crews.

In the Union Pacific and other roads some trainmen are earning 25 per cent. less than before. One freight run on the Union Pacific of 184 miles is now divided into two, one 117 miles long, and the other 67 miles long. The longer run is operated as before, while the other is operated by having a crew go out and come back the same day. The arrangement makes necessary the employment of additional crews, and results in a reduction of the average income.

The second important result of the law has been to equalize the rest periods of those crews who formerly took a long rest at the home end of their run and a short one at the other end.

Fighting Rate Reductions.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3.—Six express companies doing business in Indiana, four of whom through their counsel, brought suit in the Federal District Court today against the members of the railroad commission of Indiana, to enjoin them from taking steps to reduce express rates in this State from 10 to 12 per cent.

OFFICER SAID TO HAVE HIT WOMAN.

LANDLORD MAKES GRAVE CHARGE, WHICH IS CORROBORATED.

Is Too Looking at Birds' Nests Plain Patrolman, in Plain Clothes, Knocks Him Down—Wife Opens Policeman's Coat to Look for Star and Finds Blows.

After a desperate fight H. V. Owens, a roomer at No. 2166 East Eleventh street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Varey on the charge of battery. Owens declares that Varey struck his wife, and several witnesses corroborate his statement.

When the officer passed the house, he saw Owens in a tree, and asked him what he was doing. Owens asked who he was, and Varey replied that he was a policeman, but he was in civilian clothes and refused to show his star, it is said. He ordered Owens to climb down.

Mrs. Owens heard the conversation as it came out. When she walked up to Varey and pulled open his coat to see the star, it is alleged that he struck her in the face. Owens jumped from the tree and attacked the officer, striking him several times.

Varey drew his revolver, compelled Owens to throw up his hands, and placed him under arrest.

The janitor says that there are several birds' nests in the tree which Owens has been watching. He saw some boys Saturday trying to rob the nests, and climbed up to see if they had succeeded.

CLUB WIELDED VIGOROUSLY.

Drug Man Quarrel and One Lays Bare Officer's Skull—Woman in the Case.

During a quarrel at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Miller, No. 1350 Lawrence street, yesterday, William M. Bradley received a laceration on the back of the head which laid bare the skull. He told the police the blow was inflicted with a chair wielded by Jack Bosheaur.

At the same time Bradbender and Miller have been paying attention to Miss May MacIntosh, who lives with the Millers. When the young men met at the house yesterday, Bosheaur is said to eject Bradbender, according to the latter's story. A patrol was summoned, who took both men to Central Station.

Miller told the desk sergeant that Bradbender had made himself a nuisance in the Miller family and that he refused to eject him, only after being assisted upon disturbing the peace of the household.

Bradbender was released from custody, but Bosheaur was held and will be arraigned in the Police Court this morning. His wound was dressed at the Receiving Hospital.

Evans Claiming Kinship With Robley Is Also Arrested by St. Louis Police.

[DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A youth giving the name of Ernest Evans, and claiming to be a cousin of the admiral, is under arrest on the Manchester-avenue Police Station charge because he tried to buy shoes with a check signed "U. S. Naval Reserve."

Evans, a mechanic of No. 2740 Manchester avenue, with whom Evans bargained for the shoes, was not acquainted with Mr. U. S. Naval Reserve, refused to cash the check when the check was drawn on the Third National Bank, and the latter says that United States Naval Reserve has no account there. Evans stoutly maintains that he is a cousin and namesake of the admiral, and cannot explain how the check came into his possession.

Evans is held pending investigation. No effort will be made to ascertain whether he is any relation to the admiral.

ARRESTED ON PECULIAR CHARGE.

Youth Booked in Jail Charged With Sending Letter With Libelous Poster Affixed.

[DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Ira D. Williams, of Trinidad, Colo., is under arrest charged with having sent through the mails and defamatory matter upon the conduct of President Roosevelt.

The complaint is based on a letter sent through the Cheyenne postoffice with a poster on the envelope reading: "God bless our President. What for? Belonging to the murderous Free Masons and making speeches for the bloodthirsty Sons of St. Patrick?"

Williams admits having sent the letter, but says he didn't put the poster on the envelope. The postmaster at Iliff corroborates the statement. Williams says it is the work of an enemy, and suspects a married woman whose elopement he frustrated. Unable to give a $300 bond, Williams is in jail. He will have a hearing next Tuesday.

KILLS HIS SWEETHEART.

THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 3.—A special to the Oregonian from Hopper, Or., says: Henry P. Morrison, brakeman on the Heppner branch of the O.R. & N., shot and killed his sweetheart, Nora Wright, near Morgan and wounded Bonnie Ahalt, her companion, today.

On learning that the girl was dead, Morrison went into a wheat warehouse and shot himself. He is still alive, but there is said to be little chance for him to live.

DISORDERS MUST CEASE.

Power That Be in Korea to Make Active and Final Campaign Against Insurgents.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEOUL (Korea) May 3.—The government of Korea, acting in coöperation with the officers of the Japanese Resident General at Seoul, Prince Ito, is preparing plans for an active and final campaign against the disorderly forces in Korea.

These forces, insurgents and bandits are making much trouble, preventing Korean agriculturists from disposing of their products and hampering general business.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has made a careful canvass of all sources of information, both at Seoul and in several interior towns, and the consensus of opinion of unprejudiced foreigners, merchants, missionaries, and officials, Japanese as well as Koreans, is that business must be restored to normal conditions by whatever power undertakes to administer the country, be it Japanese or Korean.

The present disturbed conditions in the interior of Korea are due chiefly to the insufficiency of the protection available for the farmers and other peaceful inhabitants. The disturbing element today is composed largely of men out of employment, discharged Korean soldiers and regular bandits. It is said the practice of the marauders is to oppress and rob the farmers, to attack villages and to kill Japanese.

The bandit element numbers, all told, not more than 3000. The real Korean patriots, who are irreconcilable toward the idea of a Japanese protectorate, do not exceed 1000, but it undoubtedly is a fact that there exists a deep feeling of unrest and hatred toward the Japanese among the majority of the Korean people.

BIFF, BANG.

SOLDIERS DO GOOD SHOOTING.

SIX MEN ARE SELECTED FOR THE FINAL TRY-OUT.

Decius, Dammitt, Umsted, Babcock, Miles and Kellogg Are the Lucky Marksmen—Strong Wind Makes Fine Score Impossible, but Very Creditable Showing Is Made.

A team try-out rifle practice was held by "A" Company, Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., at the State range near Eastlake Park yesterday, where thirty men competed on the firing line for positions on the team of four men to represent the regiment at the State shoot to be held in June. Of those making the six highest scores yesterday, the four who make the highest averages in the intervening competitions will be sent to the State meeting, and will there compete for places on the twelve-man team, which will represent the State in the national matches at Camp Perry, O., in August.

The lucky six yesterday were Decius, Dammitt, Umsted, Babcock, Miles and Kellogg. Corp. Decius made the highest score at 200 yards, slow fire, with 44; Lieut. Dammitt, the highest at 500 yards, with 45, and Private Umsted headed the list at 200 yards, rapid fire, with 46.

Orders from the office of the adjutant-general provided that each man should fire ten shots at 200 yards, off-hand, slow fire; ten at 500 yards, prone, and ten at 200 yards, rapid fire, with two sighting shots allowed at the first two events. Only those who made 65 per cent. at the slow-fire events were to be allowed to compete in the rapid fire. This elimination brought the list down to seven.

The wind was a light gale, and conditions, as a whole, were unfavorable to high scores, but some unusual changes of form were made in the different events. Lieut. Dammitt made a bad start with 21 at rapid fire, but recovered himself at 500 yards with 45, and tied for second place with 118; Umsted, likewise surprised everybody by making only 34 at 200 yards, slow fire, but rose to the occasion by scoring nine bullseyes and a miss for 45, at 500 yards, and tying Dammitt for second place with a total of 118.

Capt. A. J. Copp, Jr., was in charge of the competition until noon when, after a buffet lunch had been served, he was relieved by Lieut. Bert T. Dammitt.

A company shoot between teams of Co. "A" and Co. "E" of Anaheim will take place in about two weeks, and later will come the more important regimental contest for the State shoot.

The individual totals, for a possible 150, were as follows:

	200 yds.	500 yds.	200 R.F.	Total
Decius	44	41	46	131
Dammitt	43	46	31	118
Umsted	34	39	45	118
Babcock	38	37	36	111
Miles	43	37	29	109
Kellogg	41	37	36	104
Crossman	37	38	28	103

The Signal Corps at the same time held a competition, under charge of Capt. Slotterbeck, to qualify for State medals, the results of which will be announced later.

Turners at Targets.

The Turners held a successful target practice yesterday afternoon at the club range with the following scores: At 200 yards, William Frick, 207; Joe Singer, 204; Dr. Taber, 201; Kris Krempel, 174; John Wiedenbeck, 167; Hy Pfirrman, 166; O. Pachmeyer, 162; Max Friese, 138.

On Wednesday, in Lisbon, King Manuel will take the oath of sovereign.

Stop Don't Wink— But keep both eyes wide open

Many thousand people have winked at the grocer during the past ten days. In response they have received a generous sample of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes. And they were delighted. It gave them an idea of how delicious a breakfast food could be.

Over 100 men were engaged to issue the invitations and see that all grocers were supplied with "wink ammunition."

The result was a most phenomenal demand for the new breakfast food. We venture to say that fully one-half the people of the city had Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes for breakfast this morning. And most of them will continue to enjoy it for breakfast.

But every great success has imitators

The real purpose of this advertising campaign is to guard you against substitution; we want to impress upon your mind the name "Kellogg's" familiarize you with the package and signature of W. K. Kellogg and thoroughly acquaint you with the delicious flavor of the genuine—Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes.

For they may imitate the box—they may copy the name, but they cannot copy the Flavor.

It's the flavor that won its favor. It will win your favor and it will hold it. So when you want the real Toasted Corn Flakes, be sure and call for and

Editorial Pen Points

Again we repeat that this is not a good year to slaughter the Republican party or to cut it in two.

George Gould is as ambitious as his father was; the question to be settled is whether or not he is as clever.

The strange case of Meyer Lissner is only another illustration of a squirt gun trying to pass as a statesman.

The gun that Heney carries in his hip pocket is far from being as dangerous as the mouth he carries in his head.

Anna Gould says Americans are lacking in a great deal that French society possesses. We are, and God be praised.

No year can be called an "off year" that has in hand the business of electing William H. Taft as President of the United States.

Stocks are soaring in Wall street and owing to the heavy grass crops stock on the farms is fattening up something wonderful.

The weak spot in a battleship is at a point called the bilge, but as long as the enemy can't get the bulge on us what's the difference?

It is again an appropriate moment for Rudolph Spreckels to sit down and ask himself whether he is really getting a run for his money.

The so-called Lincoln-Roosevelt "new lights" were determined to have a boomerang and they could not have done better than to select Heney.

A German expert believes our fleet will remain in Pacific waters. Certainly Pacific waters will never again be without at least a few of our ships.

Heeney, meeny, miney, mo; catch a sucker by the toe. But in Los Angeles a sucker is not born every minute as is the case in some other places that might be named.

A Seattle paper tells how to make "boiled Indian pudding." We don't think we should like it. There are lots of things that would make a better pudding than a boiled Indian.

Is any honest Republican willing to let himself be used as a tool by Lissner and Earl, who are squirts, and Fennessy and Biddle, who are anarchists? That's the question.

We suggest to all the nations that they pursue the course of defending their own shores but refrain from attacking any other nation's shores. Then we shall always have peace.

Now if you were to put this little jackanapes Lissner on one side of a scale and a feather from a gray goose on the other, the feather would have far the best of it in the balance.

A theatrical paper states that Sara Bernhardt has just produced a tragedy in verse in a Paris playhouse. The same thing is produced in the magazines of this country every month in the year.

Rebater Earl, Gun-fighter Heney, anarchists Fennessy and Biddle—these are the creatures who seek to run the Republican party of Abraham Lincoln. God save us; we have come upon strange times.

Certainly the fleet can't be accused of taking a part in the political campaign as it hovers along the coast. But when the ships reach the Golden Gate there will probably be some booming of cannon.

We were pretty well convinced, right along, that "Red" Fennessy, old Lem Biddle and the other boycotters would not long allow a mere make-believe editor like E. Toopious Earl to remain in command.

It is worth while to pick up a Hearst newspaper where it has been thrown into somebody's front yard just to learn that the Independence League has the two old parties already in a barrel and pickled.

Japan may succeed in harassing China, but if she starts in to beat her up it will take a thousand years before more than the outlying districts of Tsi An's domain would become aware of the disturbance.

"How would you like to be Jack ashore when the shore is attached to Southern California?" the Cleveland Plain Dealer asks its readers. We don't think it right for an editor to make his readers feel badly like that.

In discussing the problem as to what we are to do with our ex-Presidents, attention is directed to the career of George Washington, who served as a justice of the peace after he retired as the nation's Chief Executive.

"Easter came very near being a perfect spring day," reports the Baltimore (Md.) American. Which means, we suppose, that they did not have more than three different kinds of weather on that day, along the eastern shore

It does not appear to be known whether or not Bryan has a sufficient number of instructed delegates to insure his nomination. As a matter of fact nobody seems to be paying much attention to what's going to happen at Denver.

We suppose if all the military nations were to agree to disarm, China would then decided to build a big navy and raise a tremendous army. There will always be something to make the dove of peace afraid to go to bed in the dark.

FOR THE PURITY OF THE BALLOT.

It is somewhat anomalous, though not surprising, that a group of politicians who have arrogated to themselves the possession of all the civic righteousness in the community, should, upon making their bow to the public as its deliverers, start their operations by deliberately violating the spirit if not the letter of the purity of elections law—by promoting false registration and by presenting back-door and irregular tickets, not nominated by the people in accordance with the idea of the primary law but privately framed up by a few bosses.

The Times has always declared that the various safeguards thrown around the ballot are desirable and to some extent effective, but that they never can prevent persistent tricksters from getting in their devilishness—that, after all, the integrity of the ballot must depend upon the unremitting vigilance of patriotic men and upon the cultivation of public sentiment for square dealing and straight work.

The truth of this contention is as clear as yester-evening's moonlit sky, as one looks at the present situation in Los Angeles county. The primary law is a law for the benefit of political parties. It recognizes the fact that this is a government by parties; and that there is in this State an organization called the Republican party. It provides that those wishing to participate in the primaries as Republicans must so register in advance. What is the object of this provision of law? To prevent fraud at the polls? Yes, but not merely in a general sense. To prevent the perpetration of fraud upon the Republican party; to guard against unfairness to the members of that party through the intrusion and interference of those not Republicans. Similar provision is made for the benefit of the Democratic party and the Socialist party, and the Union Labor party, the aim of the law being to secure a fair and untainted expression for the members of each party in the primaries.

The law proceeds upon the absolutely just theory that the members of the Republican party are entitled to name their own convention delegates and to nominate their own candidates for office, and that the same right inheres in the membership of the Democratic or any other party. The law takes cognizance of the unfairness and unwholesomeness of permitting Democrats to invade, taint, trick and distort Republicanism at the primaries and thus defeat a fair expression of Republican opinion; that it would be just as unjust and debasing to let Republicans interfere with the Democratic expression. Indeed the whole purpose of the primary law is to forbid what Lissner and his lieutenants, Hay, Biddle, Wilson and Fennessy, have been promoting in Los Angeles.

The mischief-makers have cunningly kept within the letter of the law, attorneys say, but they have defied the whole spirit of it, not only in registration trickery, but in their nominations of delegates to the State convention. The only regularly nominated Republican tickets in the field are those nominated by the Assembly district conventions of Saturday. As a matter of fact they are the only Republican tickets nominated at all, as the primary law contemplates party nominations. The Lissner tickets are but slates made up in a back room. Not one of them was "nominated" by the Republican party or any other party. A few bosses got together and fixed them up, ignoring the people altogether—a form of procedure dangerous to the political health of the nation, and against which "reformers" of this brand have most loudly inveighed. They have themselves resorted to the worst form of boss politics.

But the primary election law presupposes parties; as we have said, it was enacted for the protection of parties. There is in California, as said above, this duly organized Republican party, recognized by the various laws governing elections. The Republican party organization issued calls for caucuses and Assembly district conventions to properly nominate delegates to the Republican State Convention to be voted for at the primaries. The Lissner League took pains to ignore these calls and to take no part in these preliminary proceedings. They boasted of it. And now—wanting to get into the Republican State Convention by a crooked route—they lay claim to the right to participate as legal Republicans in the primaries of which these caucuses and conventions were the preliminaries and to try in these primaries to overturn the will of the masses of the Republican party, freely and fairly expressed by the thousands of Republicans who legally participated in these caucuses and conventions. They would impose upon the Republicans at the primaries tickets not nominated by any gathering of Republicans, but "slated" by a little clique in a back room.

The Lissner tickets are not Republican tickets in any sense of the word and are not entitled to any standing in the primaries. They are in plain violation of the spirit of the primary law enacted for the protection of political parties from bosses aiming at control by unfair and immoral methods. In behalf of a pure ballot, the very fountain-head of good government, The Times protests against such a dishonest and dangerous game to defeat the ends of law and justice, and it calls upon all good citizens to stamp the programme with defeat at the polls tomorrow.

THE BLOODHOUNDS.

Since time out of mind the Treasury Department has had in its employ, by due authority of law, a corps of detectives to hunt down counterfeiters and do similar work against dangerous criminals. Lately the Department of Justice has "formed a habit" of "borrowing" these secret service men to go about the country on all sorts of quests, some right, some wrong.

Congress has awakened to this new use of secret-service men and to the way they perform the duties assigned to them. The result is grave misgivings, and steps are now in progress to forbid the transfer of the secret-service men from their legitimate duties to unusual work under the Attorney-General. No wonder. These men are not as a rule angels of light. The adage, "Set a thief to catch a thief" is too often kept fully in view in selecting these sleuths. Indeed, there has been an extension of this policy and in some instances the Department of Justice has sent out homicides if not actual murderers to harass innocent men as well as to run down criminals. The usual sleuth and many of the special prosecutors are of such character that it is safe to allow them to act only under immediate and careful supervision by some officer of just disposition and well-balanced mind.

We have referred to this subject before in connection with proceedings against innocent business men of Los Angeles who were indicted for no other reason than that they might be "used" to give testimony needed by the sleuths to convict persons. The subject is referred to now to congratulate the country that Congress has at last seen fit to take cognizance of this matter in such a way as will limit the use of legal bloodhounds and keep them under more careful surveillance. An application of the same policy to the use of special prosecutors would do as much good as this leashing of some of the bulldogs. The prosecutors need even more discretion than the sleuths. There are some of these whose warrants against the treasury run in a short period as high as $60,000, and who have less discretion than a good dog-catcher and less conscience than the dogs he puts in pound.

ANALYZE THE HEPBURN BILL.

If able members of Congress have just grounds to fear that the Hepburn bill is not what it should be, they are to be given all commendation for their determination to inquire how it will work out before they pass it.

We have refused to give credence to a report which has been published in several eastern papers of the best standing to the effect that the Hepburn bill is a device intended to practically defeat the Sherman act. This story goes so far as to assert that an understanding has been reached with the great corporate law-defiers on one side and the boycott lawbreakers on the other and the Hepburn bill is the result of this understanding. This would have the effect of making the Sherman act a dead letter.

Now the country is in no humor to complacently accept legislation which will undo all the President has done toward bringing the corporations of the country under proper control by the government. It is in as little humor for legislation which would nullify rulings such as Mr. Taft made while on the bench against violent strikers and boycotters. Until it is sure that a proposed law will make the Sherman act more workable, not absolutely unworkable, let the law stand as it is.

Another objection made by able lawmakers to this bill is that it would put by statute law a power in the hands of the President more autocratic and dangerous than the Czar of Russia has.

Let these matters be absolutely settled before the bill is passed. Congress should sit all summer rather than pass the bill until it shall be sure of its effects.

The President's position has been right. It is, as he says, a choice between just government control of corporations or dangerous government ownership of railroads and other utilities. Mr. Taft was right when he held that the boycott is wrong, and that men on strike must abstain from rioting and all forms of lawlessness.

Let nothing be done by Congress which will impair the usefulness of the Sherman act; but when that law is amended let us have an act more effective for carrying on the President's policies and upholding Mr. Taft's rulings.

A FALLEN IDOL.

Dist.-Atty. Jerome of New York is not a bad kind of citizen. He is a good one—but far from the best. He is too near the common type of latest-day "reformers." He is like the lady in the play and "doth protest too much," altogether too much. There are others in the business not so objectionable as Jerome, although they protest much more. Indeed, the protests and the genuine reformer are usually in inverse ratio. The fellow who bellows loudest is usually the one who falls from his pedestal first like old Dagon and breaks all to pieces, laying bare to all men's eyes the thin coat of gilding that covered the clay, and the common nature of the clay—mere mud and even half-baked.

Jerome was one of the loudest proclaimers of his own righteousness. He would no more tolerate wrongdoing nor suffer a reprobate near him than a sane person would invite a rattlesnake to bed. Had he been told to answer the penitent thief he would have said, "Seize upon him, furies; bear him to your torments."

But this modern Dagon has fallen. He is not exactly broken to pieces, but the gilding is rubbed off and the real thing beneath is just a bit of the common clay out of which Adam was moulded. He is no god nor even demigod. No, he is not even an angel, but a poor bit of old Adam's flesh with all its weakness and liability to go wrong.

This is all as sad as it is true. The world is really indulgent. We are for the most part too ready to take a man at his own estimate of himself. The man who anywhere selects a low seat for himself is left there permanently. Few of us say to a fellow-man, "Friend, go up higher." The man who pushes into the chief seats and the highest places is generally given opportunity to "make good," to show he is where he belongs. And there are always enough of us to crowd the upper seats and leave the lower ones unoccupied.

But there is always a rearrangement. Life in the end tries men out and pushes much self-proclaimed greatness far down the tables where the feast is spread. The disturbances of business and politics shake many an idol from his pedestal and either break him to bits or rub the gilding off so as to show the clay.

The scoundrels that go up and down this earth in our days like veritable lio... roaring about their own virtues and pointing out the defects that mark the conduct of better men! Well, they all have their day, and it is usually not very long from the rising to the setting of the career of such. The world is indulgent, but it can tell clay from gold when the gilding is worn away, and in the fierce battle of life even triple plate becomes scratched through and shows the brass. Brass once exposed to air soon corrodes, and then a blind man can tell by the smell that there is verdigris near, and that the stuff is poison.

California is waiting now with some anxiety to learn definitely if certain idols that have been set up for us to worship are gold or not. There is a ring to the metal which is not true. Indeed, there is suspicion that it is in some cases a wonderful mixture of mud, brass and even worse that goes into the composition of some of them. All the senses are awake in apprehension that there will be a fall and a breaking up of some of our images which will be so disgusting that visual and olfactory nerves will be safer at a distance from the catastrophe.

In the Jerome simulacrum of a reformer there is a considerable percentage at least of good crude iron. But in some of those near home who have made more noise than all the clashing cymbals in the orchestra, there are indications already in plain sight which suggest an intolerable mess of brass gone to verdigris.

IT WON'T DO.

THE SINGER IN THE RAIN.

In a late issue of the esteemed Oregonian of Portland we are delighted to note that both the paper and the city have at last a poet. Down here in the sun-kissed gardens of wonder that smile between the star-crowned hills and the shining sea, the coming of a poet is a matter to which we have become accustomed. Singers who have been bottled up, so to speak, in the cold and unsympathetic climate of the East, blossom into song when they come to Southern California as naturally as a package of free garden seed sent out by a member of Congress blooms into posies and bean flowers under the sprinkling pot and the summer sun.

But it is not thus away up yonder in the rain belt of Oregon and the damp confines of the great State of Washington. There they have gray skies and long dreary days of gloom that turn men into pessimists though they be burdened with no real cares and are actually making money. It is the country through which Jim Hill's railroad runs, and all the world knows that he is the prince of pessimists. Therefore, when into the rain belt a true singer comes blithely with his pipes, and rings his paeans to the dull clouds hanging o'er him, it is an event, and one that we rejoice to chronicle.

Vastly to our regret the sweet singer in the rain, to whom this reference is made, does not give his name in full, but doubtless it is known to the editor of the Oregonian and consequently it can be written on the golden roll of glory when the proper time comes, though why the time should be delayed we see no reason, even now. The man—or is it a woman?—who can write a poem such as the lines entitled, "To Portland," and who can break into the editorial page of the Oregonian, dare not long withhold his full name from the people, though he now declines to go farther than to give his bare initials, which are "T. McK. N."

In his opening stanza the sweet singer in the rain carols forth with this immortal quatrain:

"If thou wouldst see earth's grandest sights,
And nature at her best,
Go take a ride 'round Portland Heights,
Clear up to Council Crest."

Of course, there will be mean-souled critics, ever envious of a poet's fame, to say that this opening trill of an immortal song was written to boom the trolley roads and to induce people to spend their nickels gadding about when they ought to be at home minding the babies, but we are to remember that the critics attacked Keats and Poe and drove them broken-hearted to their graves. Let not their poisoned shafts deter thee, O Sweet Singer in the Rain!

To disprove that the poet has the whole interests of Portland at heart, and that he is not merely a hireling of the electric roads, we have but to quote another stanza from "To Portland."

"And countless ships the world to keep
In salmon, lumber, grain,
Have safely plowed the silvery deep
To the Pacific main."

And as an additional pledge of his good will toward the whole fish and agricultural enterprises of the vicinity he bursts into this sublime flight of melody:

"Our peerless exports find their way
To many a foreign strand,
And correspondents ever pray
For more of the same brand."

We would love to give the entire epic in its full grandeur from beginning to end, but space forbids, although The Times frequently consists of as many as 132 pages. Still there are other interests clamoring for a hearing, and it is our fixed policy to be fair to all and to give every one a show. But, perhaps there may come another day when the singer in the rain will again blow a blast on the pipes, and then we shall follow him at greater length. All we can say now is that we extend to our sister city on the far-away Co... our felicitations and heartfelt gladness that ... has added to her other glories a true poet.

THE GAME OF BRAG.

Readers—at least a few readers—have noticed the recent daily shoutings of the Los Angeles Herald about its alleged superiority over its contemporaries as a newspaper. It boasts much and loudly and has the audacity to claim by indirection—only by indirection, however—that it gives readers the "complete news service of the Associated Press, the greatest newsgathering organization in the world." The last part of this claim is true, but the fatal shortcoming of the Herald is in the fact that it does not publish the "complete service" of that great news purveyor. Its boastful assertion is far from correct.

But while speaking of news—telegraph news—The Times may take occasion to remark that it prints habitually double the amount of telegraphic news printed by the Herald. From the State of Southern California and from the world at large The Times published for the week ending Sunday 142 columns of telegraphic news, Associated Press and special, while the Herald published [illegible] umns. And of news of all kinds, bona fide, The Times published during the same week columns.

The game of brag is a beautiful one for the boasting sheet when no observer is around to detect and defeat it; but comparative figures cannot be brazenly ignored nor plain facts be whistled down the wind.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

"Salomy Jane," undeniable, but honest melodrama, serves the Morosco company splendidly in exploitation of that organization's a remarkably diverse character talents.

Paul Armstrong's stage retouching of Bret Harte's old story has much of the verity, though scarcely the novelty and picturesqueness of "The Girl of the Golden West." The author has rounded out men as firm and rugged, and a woman just as wildly sweet, even though he has not imparted the remarkable romance which always clings with unmistakable fragrance about the best of David Belasco's creations—and appropriations.

Salomy, in her redwood setting, flirtily placing her first kiss upon the lips of a condemned man, and afterward hustling as desperate a defense for him as ever man had, is thoroughly lovable and human, and her portrayal by Blanche Hall is a triumph of sweetness and vigorous sincerity.

The crowning bit of picturesqueness in the production is Henry Stockbridge's Col. Starbottle. Henry is unsullied by his irrepressible youth and is romicking juveniles and jovial studies in comedy; but occasionally he escapes from himself—and this is one of the occasions. Col. Starbottle, as presented a character as Mr. Micawber, is mirrored almost to the author's ideal with his rusty clothes and grand manners, his penchant for challenges and his horror of an actual engagement, his love of harangues and his utter obliviousness to his own ridiculousness.

But no less true to life is the burly and pathetically childlike Yuba Bill, originated here by John Burton. David Edwin, as the erring and doomed "Red Pete," is suitenly powerful and tender. Gerald Harcourt has the most realistic bit of character in his real history as the wierd mountaineer Lercabee. It would be difficult to imagine a more fitting actor for the role of Madison Clay, Salomy's father, than A. Duffield.

Desmond, though finely placed, as the Man, is put rather into the background as chief hero this week by Byron Beasley, who gives vivid realism to the portrayal of Jack Marbury, the lumber, real savior of Salomy's lover. Louise Royce, in the scene before Mrs. Heath's cabin, in which a family washing and the preliminaries to the execution of her worthless husband are grotesquely mingled, is bitterly philosophical, with an unflagging intensity that is astonishing.

Pete Clancy and Florence Walters lead the children's contingent humorously, and, though they may furnish but Humane Officer with material for a sacrifice to his rites later in the week, they, at least contributed a large item to yesterday's entertainment.

The scene-maker of the Burbank stage has wandered farther afield than usual, and the familiar back drop and set foliage of history are quite obscured behind a dignified forest of bearable redwoods.

If it were not for the imminence of ... and Mrs. Neill, I should predict ... weeks for this piece, which is an unusual example of true melodramatic art, both in construction and performance.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

"Quincy Jones," undeniable, but honest melodrama, serves the Morosco company splendidly in exploitation of that organization's remarkably diverse character talents.

Paul Armstrong's stage retouching of Bret Harte's old story has much of the latter, though scarcely the novelty and picturesqueness of "The Girl of the Golden West." The author has rounded out men as firm and rugged, and a woman just as wildly sweet, even though he has not imparted the real romance which always clings to unmistakable fragrance about the work of David Belasco's creations—and emulates.

Not no less true to life is the burly and pathetically childlike Yuba Bill, created here by John Burton. Dave Sherwin, as the erring and doomed "Oil Pete," is sullenly powerful - and Gerald Harcourt has the realistic bit of character in his line history as the wierd mountaineer Lasher. It would be difficult to imagine a more fitting actor for the role than Clay, Salomy's father, than J. T. Duffield.

Almost, though finely placed, as Jim, is put rather into the background as chief hero this week by Byron Beasley, who gives vivid realism to the portrayal of Jack Marbury, the real savior of Salomy's lover. The scene-maker of the Burbank has wandered farther afield than usual and the familiar back drop and wing shape of history are quite obscured behind a dignified forest of beautiful redwoods.

It were not for the imminence of Mr. and Mrs. Neill, I should predict weeks for this piece, which is an ideal example of true melodramatic craft in construction and performance.

At the Grand Operahouse production of "A Fighting Chance" this week, in the wake of Tiffany and Marlborough-so bandied about as naught. The story's forced theft of a diamond often reputed to belong to the Czar collection, from this well-known point firm, starts the dizzy thriller on its way. From this point, on through thirteen scenes and hair-raising impossibility, the fighting chance of all swims its way to the inevitable happy ending.

Jack Hayward is in her element in this week, and revels in villainy the deepest, and a gown of the latest dye. Florence Barker acquits herself in the usual highly moral manner as Jessie Allen, the noble daughter of a bad, bad father. The villains—I must want 'em—are horrifically portrayed by Arthur Hill, Lawrence Underhill and Nelson Leavitt. The remainder of the company do their part in passing the grand jury of the third act.

Edward Jose's high voice—uncannily like again heard upon a local stage, this time at the Los Angeles Theater, where he sings his renowned old ballads and an intermixture of new ones in both acts. Jose's is a freak voice, made for to hear such an enormous range, mantering lyrically upon the thin path between high C and the F above, and that, too, in a thoroughly natural tone, is just a bit unhuman.

A pianist who picked out the accompaniment positively brilliant at times, added much to the melodic radiation.

J. Elleford is responsible for the presence at this time. Mr. Elleford has been bringing first-class melodrama here for several years, but in this piece he has a worse than second-rate farce, and besides a slight modification of the plot has been recalled for deception, the bills announcing "Richard J. The piece is entitled, "Don't Tell My Wife," is reconstructed from "The Capitol Nonsuch," and is built upon the old ideas of humor. It is funny, too, to the man whose notion of humor is the deception of a credulous fool. Van Pelt, a young Los Angeles actor, labors strenuously with the leading role.

"The Bohemian Girl" will be revived next week by the Temple Opera Company, at the Auditorium, Edgar Temple will alternate with Alfred Maclennan in the tenor role, Eleanor Kent will play Arline, Harry Cashman will be Devilshoof and Laura Wallace will be seen as Florestein.

Lulu Wilson will be seen at the Burbank Opera house tonight, in the Marriage Lady, "When Knights Were Bold."

$10.00 to $17.50 Lingerie Dresses $6.50

The woman who can take warm weather philosphically—even with positive enjoyment—is the one with a goodly supply of these dainty lingerie dresses.

Exquisite models today of sheer Persian lawns, in white, pink, blue and lavender; and in the shirt waist suits, of fine linens, plentifully lace betrimmed, and even embroidered by hand, in some instances.

You'll delight in the graceful designing lavished in the backs as well as fronts, and the finely-cut, well finished Princess and shirt waist styles.

Nobody but a highly-skilled dressmaker could fashion dresses with such style and grace; and you couldn't buy the materials and have them so made up for anything like today's price; really, they're $10.00 to $17.50 values at $6.50

New Blue Serges and Suitings

In Paris, in London, all over America, serge is the thing this summer. Dust shedding, it always looks its best until the last thread wears out, and every woman has been glad to adopt serge for her spring suit.

Blue being the popular color this summer, we have specialized on all sorts of good navy and Copenhagen blues in serge. Each quality all-wool, you may be sure; and if you prefer other shades, of course they are here, too.

Serge shadow stripes in herringbone weave, 44 inches wide $1.25
Among the novelty cloths, Panajahs are prominent—here, in full color range, 50 and 54 inches wide..... $1.50
Cream or gray grounds with black or white hair-line stripes continue to be in demand; 44 and 45-inch widths $1.50
Fifty-eight inches wide ..... $3 a yard
All-wool novelty stripes, checks and plaids in Shepherd to large effects, practically every shade; real $1.25 and $1.50 values, on special sale Monday for 75c
We make to measure pleated skirts of all styles for $2.50.

Fancy Ruchings by the Box

Aside from their litttle cost, these boxes of ruchings in single neck lengths are wonderfully convenient to drop into one's suit case or traveling bag when on a journey.

Four or five different styles, in boxes containing four to six ruchings, every piece different; some contain all white ruchings, others white and colors; they range in price from 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c up to $1 and higher, according to the quality and number of ruchings contained.

Fine Bedspreads for Less

Beautifully finished white bedspreads of the sort that generally sell for a great deal more than we shall ask for a few days:

Satin bed spreads, full size, with scalloped edges and cut corners, $4.00.
Sets—spread and bolster cover to match, fringed, with cut corners, $6 complete.
Twin bed satin spreads, hemmed, $6.00.
If this notice gets you in to see these goods, that is all we ask; they are their own best recommendation. Some in a Broadway window, with towels, linens and napkins.

$3.50 Long Gloves $2.75
$1.75 Mochas $1.00 Pair

Right gloves play a large part towards a woman's peace of mind, when it comes to good taste in dress. Here are the sorts most women are asking for, and glad to get, at full price:

12-button cape gloves in leather and tan shades; all sizes, fitted; regularly $3.50, for $2.75
Two and three-clasp Mocha gloves, correct for outing, street and general day wear; black, white, mode, gray and like shades; fitted and guaranteed; $1.75 grade $1.00

Tusculum Porch Shades

Make another living room out of your porch, by having it equipped with porch screens or shades.

We've an especially fine line of shades which in beauty and durability are far superior to any screen or shade offered on the market. They aren't made of fragile bamboo or similar material, but of remarkably strong fibers, in flat or round shape, green or natural color. We've every size in stock, and can adjust them to your porch immediately.

Dress Trimmings 10c
Values to 75c

The lot is small; let that explain an otherwise ridiculous price—cut in fancy dress trimmings of various sorts.

Persian bands in several shades; white, black and fancy appliques in colors; black, white and colored braids, worth all the way to 75c a yard, on special sale at 10c

Classified Liners.

Times Classified Rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 2c per word, each insertion; minimum charge 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," and "Baths and Massage."

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate 1½ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for liners, as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

NOTICE OF SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY at private sale. Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of an order of said Superior Court, duly given and made on the 18th day of March, 1908, the undersigned executors of said estate will sell at private sale to the highest and best bidder subject to confirmation of said Superior Court, on or after the 11th day of May, 1908, at the offices of the Sentous Realty Co., being the office of said executors, at Room 705, Equitable Savings Bank Bldg., northeast corner of First and Spring streets, said city of Los Angeles, all the right, title and interest of said Benedict Castruccio, deceased, in and to the following described personal property, to-wit:

Weak Men

DR. TAYLOR, The Leading Specialist.

In my very extensive practice I have learned that the VERY SERIOUS and so-called "incurable cases" are due usually to NEGLECT and DELAY. Again, I know that many men suffer for YEARS and practically RUIN THEIR HEALTH FOREVER trying to dose themselves with some patent nostrum that never could cure. And, further, it is evident that many men will run to what they call "cheap" treatment. NO TREATMENT AT ALL "cheap" treatment means in nine cases out of ten. The last state of the man is worse than the first. Just before you go a line further in this announcement stop and ask yourself as to whether YOU are following in the foolish footsteps of the man who NEGLECTS himself? Are you trying to cure yourself with nostrums? If you are, it is certain that you will regret it. It is NEVER TOO LATE to get in the right path, but at the same time remember that you CANNOT GET THERE TOO SOON. You cannot get it too quickly. I offer it to you at the lowest fees possible.

You Can Pay When Cured

You Can Be Thoroughly Cured By My Special Treatment

My Fee for a Cure of Any Ailment Is Only $10

IN ANY UNCOMPLICATED CASE.

My special treatment will completely cure your ailment, so that it will never return, and make you a strong, healthy man, capable of performing the duties and enjoying all the pleasures of life. I GUARANTEE A CURE.

Pay Me After I Have Cured You

I HAVE GIVEN HEALTH TO THOUSANDS.

My reputation as the leading specialist in men's diseases is firmly established by my work of the past, and there is no necessity of my resorting to irregular methods in order to keep busy. My skill, ability and straightforward methods entitle me to the success that I have won, and to the full measure of public confidence that I enjoy.

Contracted Diseases

I have reduced the time required for curing contracted disorders about one-half. This is an important achievement. It replaces danger with safety. It forestalls chronic complications. It removes the infection and inflammation before that vital center, the prostate gland, can become involved. To many men it means the difference between perfect health and a lifetime of misery and functional weakness. My method is mine alone. My treatment is original. In some features it resembles the ordinary. In its chief essentials it is different. In results it is entirely different. It is safe, prompt and thorough. The above, together with Nerve Debilitation, Piles and Reflex Ailments, constitute my specialty and are the only diseases I treat.

Consultation and Diagnosis Free

MY HONEST AND CANDID ADVICE COSTS YOU NOTHING. I cheerfully give you the very best opinion, guided by years of successful practice. Men out of town, in trouble, write if you cannot call, as many cases yield readily to proper home treatment and cure. My offices are open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sundays, 9 to 12 only.

VIVE MEXICO!

FEET TO TWINKLE IN DANCES BEWITCHING.

A Group of Young People From Mexico, who will take part in an entertainment to be given Tuesday evening by the Hermosillo Club in celebration of a Mexican holiday.

(Photo by Mojonier.)

TWENTY-FIVE young members of the Hermosillo Club will give an entertainment with many picturesque and romantic Spanish features, tomorrow evening, at the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, No. 845 South Figueroa street. The occasion will be a celebration of a notable Mexican victory over the French.

The affair is under the management of Mrs. J. L. Corella-Phipps, and her daughter, Miss Carlotta Corella and the participants are young people from Mexico who are in Los Angeles to take advantage of the city's educational facilities. They represent prominent families of Sonora, Chihuahua, Jalisco, Lower California, and Vera Cruz.

The Hermosillo Club was formed about two months ago, and this is its first histronic effort, but as the power of expression is the natural gift of the Mexican race, the performance will doubtless be an able one.

The Reception Committee includes Sonores C. B. Roundtree, J. Guemes, José Escobar, Rodolfo Garaizar and Andres Gomes. Señor Escobar, who has worked for the success of the undertaking, will have a prominent part in the programme. After the overture by the orchestra, he will give an interpretation of Manual Najara's poetic setting to Shubert's Serenade. "La Golondrina" will be sung by Señora M. P. de Rodriguez and an amusing skit, "An Umbrella Dialogue," will be given by Señorita Carlotta Corella, and Señor Escobar. Señorita Consuleo Castillo will give a fan dance, "Baile de Abanico;" and Maria Luisa Maytoreno, and Señor J. Gilemes will render Zamalowed by a beautiful Spanish dance. cois's "La Madre," which will be fol- "Seguidillias," by Señorita Corella and Señor Escobar. The accompanist will be Señorita Carben Aguilar.

After the intermission, the Mexican national hymn will be sung by Señora Rodriguez and a group of young women and young men. Then the little play, "A Mysterious Crime," will be presented by the following: Carlota Corella, Maria Luisa Maytorena, Julia Wolff, Adelina Wolff, José Escobar, J. Gilemes, Alejandro Iberri, Eduardo Maytorena, Carlos Maytorena, Eugenio Mercado, Joaquin Terrazas.

REDONDO FEELS GALE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

REDONDO, May 3.—The heaviest windstorm of the season visited this city last night. For twelve hours the blow came out of the west, directly off shore, at an average velocity of forty miles or more, and this morning the streets were swept clean as by some great broom, and the water front was littered with ocean débris. The storm began yesterday morning, in reality, with a misty fog and a slight breeze from the southwest, but it was not until 4 o'clock or later in the afternoon that the wind began to be a gale, and it lasted all night. The sea began to get up a little before sundown, and at 6 o'clock the breakers were close to the tops of the piers, each one throwing a mass of spume and foam clear across them. A number of small boats went ashore, chiefly skiffs and dorys insecurely moored, and a few worn-out piles were torn from the piers and cast on the beach. Aside from this and the loss of a small launch, the Alberta, no damage was done to the shipping of the port.

The Starr Wave Motor Company sustained some slight damage to its pier from collision with the drifting wreckage and its motor float and a small barge anchored off shore went on to the beach in the early hours of last night. Neither barge nor float was materially damaged. Mr. Starr, the president of the company, expressed intense satisfaction with the result.

"I consider," said he, "that we are benefited rather than damaged by this mishap. We have learned a valuable lesson. Our mooring chain, a one-inch SB, supposed to be able to stand a test of 21,250 pounds to each link, being the very best in the market, the best that money could buy, proved defective. We will now get mooring chain that has the government test. How do I know it was defective? Why, simply because, although intended to moor the motor float which is 91 feet long, 24 feet wide and 6 feet deep, the chain parted on that little float down there, not one-fourth as large, and after it parted the float was held for three hours against the full force of the wind and sea by a small one-inch, or as sailors call it, a three-inch cable. Of course the chain was defective. It cost us something to find it out, but it is fortunate we learned the lesson before the float was in place under the pier. It is true, if the float had been hooked up, we could have sunk it beneath the water and it would have been perfectly safe, but we are glad that we now know that a part of our equipment is defective so that it can be replaced before active operations begin."

At high tide tonight the float will be hauled out of the breakers and placed on skids. The damage is very slight and repairs can be made in a day or two, so that there will be no material delay in the matter of beginning operations.

SEE THE FLOTILLA.

Redondo received a flying visit from the destroyer flotilla this morning. The six long, lithe, black destroyers appeared off Point Vincent at 10 o'clock, gliding along in double column. When about two miles off shore single column was formed, the Whipple in the lead, and the six vessels passed along the shore a few hundred feet off from pier No. 1. When the last one had passed the pier, single column formation was changed to the original double column, speed was increased from ten to fifteen knots, and the Sunday morning visitors soon disappeared from view in a cloud of smoke in the direction of Santa Barbara.

This visit was a universal surprise and was the result of a request made on yesterday morning of Lieut. Cone by President C. H. Burnett of the Redondo Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Burnett took luncheon aboard the flagship with Lieut. Cone.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

SOLID MILK BY ELECTRICITY.

NEW SUBSTANCE KNOWN AS OMSITE PRODUCED.

An Ohio Confectioner Stumbles Upon a Valuable Product That Will Turn a Bullet, Is Impervious to Fire, and Capable of Being Substituted for Various Materials.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] The making of a substance like rubber from skim milk is the feat accomplished by George V. Frye, in the little town of Lexington, O. Patents on the process have been granted Frye.

Tests showed the substance to be splendid for insulating, as it offered complete resistance to electricity. It has been named "omsite." The electrical treatment of milk is the source of the new substance, and the patents granted to Frye give him absolute power in regard to treating milk in this manner.

The discovery of the new substance was entirely accidental. For thirty-five years Frye has been engaged in the creamery and confectionery business, the confectionery feature being confined to the manufacture of goods into which milk enters largely, and during all this time he has given much thought to the possibility of some day hitting upon a process by which the millions of gallons of skimmed milk which go to waste annually, could be used to advantage in some branch of the business.

The idea of passing a current of electricity through milk was evolved for the purpose of sterilizing it. The first surprise came when he discovered that he could bring solids held in suspension and add appreciably to the amount of butter which could be procured from 100 pounds of milk. Frye followed up this discovery by attempting to find a way in which the worthless by-product could be used. He was one day surprised to find in this by-product, after he had sent numerous electric currents through it in his electric furnace, a soft, white, elastic substance, which was entirely new to his experience. That was the beginning of a series of experiments and tests which have resulted in the remarkable substance known as omsite.

Omsite is impervious to the strongest acids, unaffected by heat or cold, is an absolute nonconductor of electricity. A bullet flattens against a piece one-fourth of an inch in thickness at a distance of only a few feet. It is fireproof, as has been proved by tests in various factories in the country. And while omsite answers every requirement as a substitute for vegetable rubber, the possibilities for its use also enter the field occupied by paper, wood, iron and steel. While so hard as to withstand a crushing test of 48,000 pounds to the square inch it is capable of being worked upon by any tool as readily as is wood, and in its hard state obtained by vulcanization, can be turned into any form on a lathe. Rolled to the thinness of a sheet of paper and vulcanized to a point where it is no less pliable than paper, it has been submitted to the most intense heat without being affected in the slightest degree.

While in a plastic state, omsite can be molded into any shape, and steps have already been taken to manufacture a sufficient quantity of it in suitable slabs of six-inch thickness to demonstrate the practicability of using it on the hulls of vessels. This vessel will be built at Cleveland, in the vicinity of which one of the plants of the company is to be located.

While omsite contains all the vegetable properties of rubber, chemists have found an analysis of the product impossible on account of the impossibility of reducing it to its component parts by the use of any acid and its resistance to all attempts to pulverize it. The patent protecting the new discovery comprehends the precipitation of milk solids by electricity and manufacturing therefrom a solid valuable in many commercial ways. It covers the introduction of a current of electricity into milk for any purpose, indicating that Frye is the pioneer in this particular field.

ORIGIN OF HOSPITALS.

Can Be Traced Back to Four Hundred Years Before the Christian Era.

Among the expenditures by States and cities, those for the maintenance of hospitals always meet with the hearty approval of the public.

The work accomplished in hospitals by boards of trustees and expert practitioners of medicine and surgery cannot be too highly praised. In populous cities thousands of individuals are cared for annually, and a very large percentage of the cases are handled successfully. Without these admirable establishments thousands of

HOSP BLOWS UP IN THE FOURTH.

Oaks Make Three Easy Runs Off Hits and Errors.

Heitmuller Cracks Out a Homer in Fifth.

Brashear Pleases Fans With Fine Running Catch.

Oakland, 6; Los Angeles, 3.

Hosp showed a three-time flash of his old-time speed for about fifteen minutes yesterday and then blew up. This means that the reverberations of the explosion could be heard kissing the echoing hills all afternoon, and the kissing was still going on when the umpire called time and ordered them to break away.

This reverberation business came like the well-known "lightning out of a clear sky," and probably surprised Hosp as much as any one. For three innings he pitched like a live one, and then, without warning, in the fourth inning, came the loud noise. This was Hosp exploding, and in the very next inning there was another loud bang, which satisfied those who had not listened to the first report.

Hosp started this fourth inning by walking Van Haltren. Then Heitmuller hit a grounder to Smith, who made a wild throw to Bernard at second base in the effort to force Van Haltren. Van was not only safe on the error, but ran to third base. Then Hosp filled the bases by soaking Truck Eagan with the ball, and following this, W. Hogan, Altman and Haley singled to right, and three runs scored. In the fourth after one was out, Van Haltren hit to left and then Heitmuller slapped the ball over the left fence for a homer, the strong wind aiding materially in making the hit clear the fence. In the eighth, with one out, Haley doubled to left, went to second on Slattery's single to left, and scored on Smith's muff of a throw by Hogan to catch Haley off the bag.

Van Haltren stuck in a new one in Deller to pitch, and he proved to be the goods in the heaving line, for he held the locals to seven swats. In the first inning he soaked Bernard with the ball, Bernie went to second on Oakes's safe bunt, to third on Dillon's sacrifice and both Oakes and Bernard scored on Brashear's double to the score board. In the fourth inning Smith grounded to Altman at third and he threw the ball ten feet over first base, Smith going to second on the error. Ellis bunted toward third and Smith reached that bag on the hit, and scored when Slattery threw wild to third to catch him.

About 3000 people saw the game, which was a very good showing, despite the cold day.

TWO SHUT-OUTS.

ERROR LOSES BEAVERS ONE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After losing the morning game by a careless muff of a fly on the part of Bassey, in left field in the eleventh inning, the Beavers turned the tables on the Seals in the afternoon, shutting them out by a score of 4 to 0 and leaving for home well contented with having captured five of the seven games this week. The morning game was a pitchers' battle, neither team scoring until the eleventh when the Seals put their necessary tally across the plate on that outfield error, two sacrifices and a well-timed single by George Hildebrand. In the afternoon the northerners landed on Oscar Jones in the first inning for three long singles to right field that drove in two scores, and in the ninth they took Skillman down the line for a pair of runs.

San Francisco, having taken another slump in the batting, couldn't do much with Groom, who scattered his five hits and the one chance the Seals had of doing some scoring in the third was spoiled by a piece of injudicious coaching on the part of Kid Mohler.

All told it was a delightful week for the Beavers. They have been hitting the ball hard all the way through and winning games, which is an important consideration when it comes to going home for the opening of the season. Casey turned his ankle sliding in to first in the ninth inning and had to be helped from the field. It is not thought that the injury is serious, however, and he will probably be in the line-up next Tuesday afternoon.

Practically the only San Francisco chance was in the third when with two out Piper hit to short and Williams to right field. Piper should have stopped at third, but Mohler urged him on and Ryan relayed the ball back to the plate by way of Danzig in plenty of time to get the runner.

In the last of the eighth, Chief Esola was sent in to bat for Jones, but accomplished nothing and Skillman had to pitch out the game.

SOUTHERN STATE LEAGUE.

SALT LAKES DEFEATED.

The Dyas-Clines took revenge on the seemingly invincible Salt Lakes yesterday, defeating the former percentage leaders by the score of 6 to 3 in the second game of the double-header baseball contest played at Joy Park. In the first game the Morans won a close contest from the Christopher-Levys by the score of 7 to 6.

The Salt Lakes were surely caught on the hip, and with a telling array of twelve errors, could never hope to overtake the Dyas-Clines, who were in great form, and took advantage of every muff. The winners gained their lead in the first two innings, annexing two runs in the opening session, and three in the next. Lyman pitched great ball for the Dyas-Clines, striking out nine, to five for Grayson. The losers, however, scored the only two-base hits, one each by Sears and Hart, but lost the advantage by attempting to steal home.

Heavy hitting featured the seven-inning contest between the Morans and Christopher-Levys. Phillips performed well for the winners, getting eleven strike-outs. Garrity of the losers was the only sticker to make a two-bagger. The Morans won their game in the initial period by securing four tallies, and again circled the bags in the third and fifth innings.

MORE GRIEF FOR RACE GAMBLERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Like a bomb shell tonight, came the announcement by Mayor J. F. Grinstead that no betting, not even the Paris Mutuels, would be permitted at Churchill Downs at the race meet scheduled to begin Tuesday. Consternation is widespread in the racing camp, but President Charles F. Grainger of the new Louisville Jockey Club said tonight that the races would be run as scheduled.

It had been thought that the Mutual machines would be permitted to operate, but the administration changed its attitude. An injunction suit is expected. The race track is not in the city limits, but under the charter of the jockey club is accorded police protection.

Detectives Guerin and Laukemann of the MacDougal-streetsttaion said they had seen Tosca sell a membership ticket for a dollar to a man who afterward entered the hall. They tried to buy tickets without success, and then entered and arrested the men named at the end of the first round of the first preliminary.

"If you had held a meting and elected that man to membership before you let him in," said Magistrate Steinert, "you could have got away with it. As it is, I will hold you for trial."

GOOD SHOWS THIS WEEK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The following are the boxing cards for this city this week:

Monday, West End Athletic Club—Adam Ryan and Young Loughrey.

Thursday, Broadway Athletic Club—Mickey Gannon of Pittsburgh and Dick Fitzgeraid of this city.

Saturday, Garden City Athletic Club—Unk Russell and Harry Lewis.

The Ontario Athletic Club will also have a show next Friday night.

PUGS FINISH WORK.

LOCAL BOYS ARE READY.

English and Memsic finished their training yesterday for their fight tomorrow night at the Pacific Athletic Club and will do nothing today except a little road work this morning. Memsic went on the road yesterday and after his usual gym stunts wound up with four rounds with the Turk. English had his last boxing bout of five rounds with Kid Dalton, after his morning work-out, and both men drew fair-sized crowds of fight bugs to see their final preparation. If Memsic does not win tomorrow night he will quit the game, according to statements he made several weeks ago.

STATE LEAGUE BALL.

THIRTEEN INNING GAME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, May 3.—San José lost a hard game to Stockton this afternoon in the thirteenth inning, when three hits netted the Millers three runs. Arellanes did not allow the semblance of a hit until the tenth, when Joyce started with a single. Smith sprained an ankle in the ninth and Moskiman tore a ligament in his leg sliding to second. Wolters was put out of the game for disputing with the umpire. Score:

San José, 1; hits, 9; errors, 3.
Stockton, 4; hits, 6; errors, 1.
Batteries—Arellanes and Eager; Henderson and Joyce.

CUBS TAKE TWO GAMES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 3.—Chicago won both games from St. Louis today. Brown pitched his first full game of the season in the opening game and was invincible until the last two innings, when three singles, a double and a triple were bunched off him, for two runs. Beebe pitched for St. Louis in the second game and allowed only one scratch hit in seven rounds. Score:

Chicago, 4; hits, 8; errors, 1.
St. Louis, 2; hits, 6; errors, 3.
Batteries—Brown and Kling; Raymond, McGlynn and Hostetter. Umpire—O'Day.

FINE CONTEST.

WANDERERS WIN IN FIRST.

Hunt Treats Fielders to Rare Leather-Hunting.

No "Ducks" by the Winners. All in Good Form.

Arizona Cricketers Will Tour Southern California.

The first of the inter-league cricket matches was played yesterday afternoon at Vineyard Station and resulted in an easy victory for the Wanderers by 5 wickets and 107 runs.

Pat Higgins won the toss and sent the Marylebone men in to bat first, on the chance that the wind, which was very strong, would have abated by the time his men were ready to bat. Simonds and Nash, the first men in, took their start at the wickets at 2:30 o'clock, the former facing Hunt, the crack Santa Monica player. Thomas was behind the sticks as wicket-keeper, and as no runs were scored, the first over resulted in a maiden. Nash then faced Tomkins and sent his second ball hard to point, which Gadsdon smartly fielded. His third he neatly placed in the slips for a single. After Simonds had taken his center, he hit Tomkins nicely to long on for one.

In Hunt's next over, Kitchin was applauded for a smart piece of fielding in the slips, the ball being hit hard to that position by Simonds, who thus lost getting a brace. That batsman, however, lost his wicket in the following over by playing a ball from Tomkins into his wicket. Sommerville then went in and broke his "duck" by hitting the left-hander to mid off for a single, but on changing ends, Nash was clean bowled with the last ball of the over, two wickets being down for only seven runs. Mitchell then went in and backed up Sommerville, who hit Hunt to leg for three and Tomkins to square leg for two, followed by another hit to square leg also off the same bowler. Mitchell then faced Hunt, but could take no liberties with the beach twirler.

The fielding was particularly close and what balls Thomas failed to hold, Heavens, Jr., stopped, so that even byes were at a premium. Gadsdon then made a fine catch at point off Tomkins, which dismissed the old Marylebone captain, who had to retire without a single run to his credit. On Bhumgara taking his place at the wickets, Sommerville drove Pat, who had replaced Hunt with the ball, hard to the outfield for three. The Parsee then played out the balance of the over without further scoring.

SOMMERVILLE HITS.

Sommerville was doing most of the scoring at this stage of the game. He hit Higgins twice in succession; once to long off for two and again to square leg also for two. The East Indian contented himself with keeping his end up until he became more familiar with the bowling. When the old Halleburian had made 20, he gave a hard chance to Gadsdon at point, but the ball kept so low and had such a spin on it that if the catch had been brought off, it would have been the most brilliant piece of fielding this season. Only two more runs were added by this batsman, when he was beautifully taken by Higgins, and had to retire for 22, compiled by practically faultless cricket. Calderbank took his place.

Bhumgara then broke his "egg" with a fine drive for 3 off Hunt, but in trying to make an extra one for the overthrow, Calderbank was run out without scoring, five wickets being down for only 34 runs. At this stage of the game Higgins relieved Thomas behind the sticks, that wicket-keeper taking his place in the slips. With the score at 39, Hunt clean bowled Ramsden, Packman taking his place. Both Bhumgara and the new arrival seemed hard to dismiss, so much so that Hunt and Tomkins tried variations in the bowling. They first sent down several slow high-pitched balls, followed immediately after by a swift one. This mode of attack somewhat disconcerted the batsmen and brought about the desired separation, as Packman, in trying to hit out, sent up a catch to Thomas in the slips, which was accepted.

With the score at 46, Stanton relieved Hunt and sent down a maiden. Kitchen then treated the spectators to some sensational play; he hit Tomkins to square leg for 2, followed by a 2 to long leg; he then got the left-hander away to long off for 2 and again to square leg for a like amount, all with successive hits. In trying to repeat the stroke with the last ball of that over, he was clean-bowled by Tomkins. With the score unchanged, Bhumgara, after making 13 by steady and at times dashing cricket, was brilliantly caught out by Ashton at long off. With only a single added to the score, Gadsdon caught Giles at point off Stanton and with the score unchanged Mills was clean-bowled, the innings coming to a close for 59.

WANDERERS OPEN.

The Wanderers opened their innings at 4 o'clock and sent in Mould and Kitchin to face Bhumgara and Mitchell. The former opened his account with a single off the Parsee, followed by a 2 in the slips. In Mitchell's second over he again placed the ball neatly in the slips for 3. Kitchin then got the Parsee away to long off for 3, Mould playing out the balance of the over. Kitchin then drove hard, but the fielding was so good in the earlier stages of the game that close run-getting was difficult. In getting in position to slog the East Indian, Kitchin unluckily got his leg in the way, with the result that the umpire gave him out leg before wicket on being appealed to. Heavens then took his stand at the wickets.

Few extras were allowed, as Sommerville was particularly quick behind the stumps, and, by watching every ball, saved many a bye. Heavens opened his account by snicking Bhumgara neatly to the slips for 2, followed by a single to leg. Mould then got the Parsee to square leg for a 2, but in the following ball lost his wicket to one of the East Indian's ground sneaks. Pat Higgins then went in and promptly drove Bhumgara to the outfield for 2. On changing ends, the Australian put Mitchell away to the off, but Simmonds returned the ball so smartly that only a single resulted.

HIGGINS SLOGS.

At 25, Simmonds relieved Bhumgara, but had his first delivery cut by Heavens for 1; his second was sent to long off by Pat for 2, while the third was hit by that same batsman for a 5, the ball being sent clean out of the ground and within an ace of landing on the Beverley car line. In Simmonds's third over Pat again made a great hit, lofting the ball to long off for 2. At 44, Ramsden relieved Simmonds. This change effected a separation, as with his first ball he got Pat caught by Nash, who was fielding at cover point. Higgins's 20 was compiled by powerful and aggressive hitting, and at no time did he seem inclined to block the ball.

With Hunt in as Heavens's partner, some more tall scoring was made, and the fielders were treated to a rare piece of leather-hunting until the drawing of stumps. That latter batsman hit Ramsden for 4 to the outfield and again for 2 to leg. Nash then relieved Mitchell and sent down a maiden. Hunt then opened out and hit Ramsden to long off for 3, and continued to slog the bowling all over the ground.

At 5 o'clock, Heavens made the winning hit by late cutting Ramsden nicely for 2. With the score at 62, that batsman sent up a hard one to Nash, but, as it was too hot to hold, that bowler failed to add a wicket to his credit. Calderbank then relieved Nash with the ball, but failed to effect a separation. When Heavens had made 22, he gave a hard chance to Calderbank at point, which, however, was not accepted.

HUNT WELL SET.

Heavens and Hunt were by now well set and runs came fast form both. The latter was the more aggressive and brought off the biggest hit of the day, viz: a 6 off Calderbank. With the score at 97, Bhumgara again went on in place of Ramsden, but had his first delivery sent to long off for 3 by Hunt. The beach player then got Calderbank away to the off for 3, but in that bowler's next delivery Heavens lost his wicket, being clean bowled. The retiring batsman had scored his 29 by careful and at times dashing play, and as he trotted back to the pavilion, received quite an ovation.

Tomkins, the newcomer, broke his "duck" with a single off Calderbank; he then hit Bhumgara to long leg for 4, followed by a 3 to square leg. He then got Packman, who had relieved the Parsee, to the outfield for 6, followed by another 6 to the same place. Not content with this tall scoring he spoilt the bowling analysis by hitting Simmonds for 4, then for a 6 and again for 2, all with consecutive hits. Kitchin then made a brilliant catch at leg off Packman, which dismissed Tomkins.

With Gadsdon in, the score rose rapidly, for Hunt continued to punish the bowling until the drawing of stumps. Both these batsmen carried out their bats; Hunt making 64, while Gadsdon

Worse Than Infidels.

It was "City Mission Day" at the Temple Baptist Church yesterday, and Rev. Dr. Robert J. Burdette's subject was, "Worse Than Infidels." The text was: "If any provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel."

"Charity," said the preacher, "begins at home; if it doesn't, it never begins. A man should first of all care for himself; for his own soul. He should make himself a man; he should equip himself for service; he should make himself strong.

"A soldier studies 'the school of the soldier,' the manual of arms, the position of the soldier, the facings and the movements he can make all by himself. Then he will be of some account to his company; of some service to his regiment. He will be a unit in brigade maneuvers. But he begins with 'mark time,' and learning what to do with his own hands and feet, of which he has at first as many as a centipede. So, a man's very first duty is to himself. Then, when he is out of his apprenticeship, when he is one of God's workmen, he can, and should, do for others all the rest of his life. His health, his strength, his education, his money, his skill, his genius, his religion—his hands, his brains and his soul—all belong to God, who gave him power to be what he is. All his life he should use these things for God, and the only way he can serve God on earth is by being of service to people—to God's power; His sick, wretched, ignorant, unhappy, tempted, weak and suffering.

"No wonder Andrew Carnegie wants to die poor. A man has no right to die rich, so long as there is poverty and ignorance, suffering and sorrow in this world. This is the teaching and the example of Jesus Christ. Until the Son of God came, teaching and healing, man thought mainly of himself. He lived for himself. He treasured the promises of material blessings as the reward of his righteouness. Being good, he should prosper in basket and in store; in field and flocks and herds; in children and houses and lands. But Jesus came, saying: 'Scatter all this!' Blessed are the poor. Love your neighbor; sell that thou hast, and instead of reinvesting, give to the poor, take up the cross, and follow Me, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven.'

"Give—give—give—this was the teaching of Christ. Give your time, as the Son of God gave of eternity. Give your strength, as Jesus gave till He fainted under the cross. Give your substance, as He gave food to the hungering multitudes in the wilderness. Give your best gifts, as He gave eyes to the blind, speech to the dumb, health to the sick and life to the dead. Give sympathy, as He gave His tears to the city He loved; to the heart-broken mother at the gates of Nain; to the sorrowing sisters of His friends. Give your companionship, as He ate with sinners. Give pity, as He had compassion on the blind men. Give hope, as did He. Give love, as God the Father gave His only Son for love of the world, and the Son gave all that the treasury of heaven had to give. Give your whole self, as Jesus gave Himself at last to the cross of agony and love and death, that we might live; as He gave the sinless perfection of His own soul for a moment to the shadows of death and hell—and then gave life, everlasting life, to every one who will give himself to God."

Horses, or Men?

"Horses, or Men?" was the topic of Rev. William Horace Day at the First Congregational Church yesterday. The text was: "Cursed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of his way." Among other things, the preacher said:

"When we permit a pool-selling race track we cause those who do not see whither it leads to wander, and we fall under that curse. The only reason for the existence of this modern gambling device, which is not equally valid for the lucrative sport of highway robbery, is the plea that the race track has bettered the breed of horses. If that were true, we should be making horses good by making men bad.

"Recreation is a part of my creed. Clean sport is one of the best means of recreating the weary brain, but when you have to make men foul before you can make the horse fleet, you have lowered the speed record at too great cost. The modern race course cannot run without the betting ring. Its patrons go to gamble, and the profits depend upon the pool selling. 'Men do not manage race tracks to better the horses any more than the gambler buys the roulette wheel to study the laws of motion.' The whole enterprise is rotten from top to bottom. I have repeatedly been told that an honest race is never run at this public racing resort. Tips on the races are no less dishonest. In one series examined, out of 4223 named as winners, 3186 lost. In another group studied, 498 were named as winners, and 777 lost. At the race track the horse is always bettered at the expense of the man.

When the city was facing the question concerning Ascot Park—the question of horses or men—we were urged to permit the races because it made a market for so much hay and labor. No one ever added up the expense account. The test of a good business enterprise is not the gross receipts but how much receipts exceed outlay. Even 'Lucky' Baldwin would prefer as a bank clerk the young man who would choose Christian Endeavor rather than the race course. Ascot and Santa Anita have cost the business interests of this city great sums. The last Saturday of the races this winter one bank employé, we are told, took $1000 of the bank's money and lost it. He returned to the bank, took all he could get and fled. You would be startled if you were to make a list of the business institutions in this city which have suffered this kind of loss. If we had been able to get our law from the Legislature at Sacramento, these men would not be fugitives from justice, and a little ten-year-old girl and a heart-broken wife and mother would not be hiding their heads in shame.

"In spite of repulse, the battle goes on. The struggle in New York is hot. The constitution had been amended to prohibit all forms of gambling, and the Legislature, yielding to the pressure of the corrupt interests, passed a law permitting race track gambling. Gov. Hughes, like President Roosevelt, has many times committed political suicide by taking up the cause of righteousness. He will call a special session a week from Monday, and it looks as if New York would vote against the horse and for the man.

"Our California Anti-Race Track League proposes to band together the voters of California who will vote for men. This form of gambling cancer has spread itself through much of the body politic, and it has allied itself with many forms of legitimate business, and now it is a business proposition. This whole matter hangs upon the fidelity of the Christian business men of the State. For which will you vote, horses or men?"

CHAPTER XI.

SAMUEL STATHAM CONFESSES.

When Rolfe entered old Sam's presence he saw that something was amiss.

Was it possible that his employer knew his secret—the secret of his visit to Cromwell Road on the previous night? Perhaps he did. The suggestion crossed his mind, and he stood breathless for a few seconds.

"I thought you had left for Servia, Rolfe," exclaimed the old man in his thin, weak voice. He had seated himself at the writing-table prior to his secretary's appearance, and had tried to assume a businesslike air. But his face was unusually drawn and haggard.

"I missed the train last night," was the young man's reply. "It is useless to leave till tonight, as I can then catch the Orient Express from Paris tomorrow morning. Therefore I thought I'd call to see if you have any further instructions."

The old man grunted. His keen eyes were fixed upon the other's face. The explanation was an unsatisfactory one.

Samuel Statham, as became a great financier, had a wonderful knack of knowing all that passed. He had his spies and secret agents in every capital, and was always well informed of every financial move in progress. To him, early information often meant profits of many thousands, and that information was indeed paid for generously.

In London, too, his spies were ever at work. Queer, mysterious persons of both sexes often called there in Park Lane, and were admitted to private audience of the king of the financial world. Rolfe knew them to be his secret agents, and, further, that his employer's knowledge of his own movements was often wider than he had ever dreamed.

No man in the whole City of London was more shrewd or more cunning than old Sam Statham. It was to the interest of Statham Brothers to be so. Indeed, he had once remarked to his secretary that no secret, however carefully kept, was safe from his agents, and that he could discover without difficulty anything he wanted to know.

Had he discovered the truth regarding the strange disappearance of the Doctor and his daughter?

"Why did you lose the train last night, Rolfe?" asked the great financier. "You did not go to Charing Cross," he added.

Rolfe held his breath again. Yes, as he had feared, his departure had been watched for.

"I—well, it was too late, and so I didn't attempt to catch the train."

"Why too late?" asked Statham, reprovingly. "In a matter of business—and especially of the magnitude of yours at this moment—one should never be behindhand. Your arrival in Belgrade twenty-four hours late may mean a loss of about twenty thousand to the firm."

"I hope not sir," Rolfe exclaimed, quickly. "I trust that the business will go through all right. I—I did my best to catch the train!"

"Your best! Why, you had a day in which to pack and get to Charing Cross!"

"I quite admit that, but I was prevented."

"By what?" asked Statham, fixing his eyes upon the young man before him.

"By a matter of private business."

"Yes—a woman! You may as well admit it, Rolfe, for I know all about it. You can't deceive me, you know."

The other's face went ghastly white, much to Statham's surprise. The latter saw that he had unconsciously touched a point which had filled his secretary with either shame or fear, and made a mental note of it.

"I don't deny it, sir," he faltered, much confused. He had no idea that his employer had any knowledge of Maud.

"Well—you're an idiot," he said, very plainly. "You'll never get on in the world if you're tied to a woman's shoe strings, depend upon it. Girls are the ruin of young men like you. When a man is free, he's his own master, but as soon as he becomes the slave of a pretty face then he's a lost soul both to himself and to those who employ him. Take the advice of an old man, Rolfe," he added, not unkindly. "Cast off the trammels, and be free to go hither and thither. When I was your age, I believed in what men call love. Bah! Live as long as I have, and watch human nature as I have watched it, and you'll come to the same conclusion as I have arrived at."

"And what is that?" asked Rolfe, for such conversation was altogether unusual.

"That woman is man's ruin always—that the more beautiful the woman the more complete the ruin," he answered in the hard, unsympathetic way which he sometimes did when he wished to emphasize a point.

Charlie Rolfe was silent. He was familiar with old Sam's eccentricities, one of which was that he must never be contradicted. His amazing prosperity had induced an overbearing egotism. It was better to make no reply.

At heart the old man was beside himself with delight that his secretary had not left London, but it was his policy never to betray pleasure at anything. He seldom bestowed a single word of praise upon any one. He was silent when satisfied, and bitterly sarcastic when not pleased.

"I do not think, sir, that whatever you may have heard concerning the lady in question is to her detriment," he could not refrain from remarking.

"All that I have heard is very favorable, I admit. Understand that I say nothing against the lady. What I object to is the principle of a young man being in love. Why court unhappiness? You'll meet with sufficient of it in the world, I can assure you. Look at me! Should I be what I am if I had saddled myself with a woman and her worries of society, frocks, children, petty jealousies, flirtations, and the thousand and one cares and annoyances which make a man's life a burden to him.

"No. Take my advice, and let those fools who run after trouble go their own way. Sentimentalists may write screeds and poets sonnets, but you'll find, my boy, that the only true friend you'll have in life is your own pocket."

Charlie was not in the humor to be lectured, and more especially upon his passionate devotion to Maud. He was annoyed that Statham should have found it out, and yet, knowing the wide-reaching sources of information possessed by the old millionaire, it was scarcely to be wondered at.

"Of course," he admitted, somewhat impatiently, "there is a good deal of truth in your argument, even though it be a rather blunt one. Yet are not some men happy with the love of a good wife?"

"A few—alas! a very few," Statham replied. "Think of our greatest men. Nearly all of them have had skeletons in their cupboards because of their early infatuations. Of some, their domestic unhappiness is well known. Others have, however, hidden it from the world, preferring to suffer than to humiliate themselves or admit their foolishness," he said, with a calm cynicism. "Today you think me heartless, without sentiment, because you are inexperienced. Twenty years hence recollect my words, and you will be fully in accord with me, and probably regret deeply not having followed my advice."

With his thin hand he turned over some papers idly, and then, after a moment's pause, his manner changed, and he said, with a good-humored laugh:

"You won't listen to me, I know, Rolfe. So what is the use of expounding my theory?"

"It is very valuable," the young man declared, deferentially. "I know that you are antagonistic toward women. All London is aware of that."

"And they think me eccentric—eh?" he laughed. "Well, I do not want them. Society I have no use for. It is all too shallow, too ephemeral, and too much make-believe. If I wished to go into society tomorrow, it would welcome me. The door of every house in this neighborhood would be opened to me. Why? Because my money is the key by which I can enter.

"The most exclusive set would be delighted to come here, eat my dinners, listen to my music, and borrow my money. But who among the whole of that narrow, fast-living little world would care to know me as a poor man? I have known what it is to be poor, Rolfe," he went on; "poorer than yourself. The world knows nothing of my past—of the romance of my life. One day, when I am dead, it may perhaps know. But until then I preserve my secret."

He was leaning back in his padded chair, staring straight before him, just as he had been an hour ago.

"Yes," he continued, "I recollect one cold January night when I passed along the pavement yonder," and he jerked his finger in the direction of the street. "I was penniless, hungry, and chilled to the bone. A man in evening dress was coming from this very house, and I begged from him a few coppers, for I had tasted nothing that day, and, further, my poor mother was dying at home—dying of starvation. The man refused, and cursed me for daring to ask charity. I turned upon him and cursed him in return, and I vowed that if ever I had money I would one day live in his house. He jeered at me and called me a maniac.

"But, strangely enough, my words were prophetic. My fortune turned. I prospered. I am today living in the house of the man who cursed me, and that man himself was compelled to beg charity of me! Ah, yes!" he exclaimed, suddenly, rising from his chair with a sigh. "The world little dreams of what my past has been. Only one man knows—the man whom you told me, Rolfe, a little time ago, was in England and alive."

"Yes," replied his employer, in a hoarse, changed voice. "He knows everything."

"Things that would be detrimental to you?" asked the private secretary slowly.

"He is unscrupulous, and would prove certain things that—well, I—I admit to you in strictest confidence, Rolfe—that it would be impossible for me to face."

Charlie stared at him in utter amazement.

"Then you have satisfied yourself that what I told you was correct?"

"I disbelieved you when you told me. But I no longer doubt."

"Why?"

"Because I have seen him today—seen him with my own eyes. He was standing outside, there against the railings, watching the house."

"And did he see you?"

"He saw and recognized me."

Charlie gave vent to a low whistle. He recognized the seriousness of the situation. As private secretary he was in old Statham's confidence to a certain extent, but never before had he made such an admission of fear as that he had just done.

"Where is he now?"

"I don't know. Gone to prepare his coup for my ruin, most probably," was the old man's response, in a strained unnatural voice. "But, listen, Rolfe. I have told you today what I would tell no other man. In you I have reposed many confidences, because I know you well enough to be confident that you will never betray them."

"You honor me, sir, by those words," the young man said. "I endeavor to serve you faithfully as it is my duty. I am not forgetful of all that you have done for my sister and myself."

"I know that you are grateful, Rolfe," he said, placing his bony hand upon the young man's shoulder. "Therefore I seek your aid in this very delicate affair. The man Adams has returned from the grave—how, I do not know. So utterly bewildering is it all that I was at first under the belief that my eyes were deceiving me—that some man had been made up to resemble him and to impose upon me. Yet there is no imposture. The man whom I know to be dead is here in London, and alive!"

"But did you actually see him dead?" asked Rolfe, innocently.

Old Statham started quickly at the question.

"Er—well—no. I mean, I didn't exactly see him dead myself," he faltered.

"Then how are you so very positive that he died?"

"Well, there was a funeral, a certificate, and insurance money was, I believe, paid."

"That does not prove that he died," remarked Rolfe. "I thought I understood you to say distinctly when we spoke of it the other day that you had actually stood beside the dead body of John Adams, and that you had satisfied yourself that life was extinct?"

"No! no!" cried the old man, uneasily, his face blanched. "If I led you to suppose that, I was wrong. I meant to imply that, from information furnished by others, I was under the belief that he had died."

Charlie Rolfe was silent. Why had his employer altered his declaration so as to suit the exigencies of the moment?

He raised his eyes to old Sam's countenance, and saw that it was the face of a man upon whom the shadow of a crime had fallen.

[To Be Continued Tomorrow.]

THREE CONFIRMED.

Bishop Johnson Officiates at Evening Services at All Saints' Church, Highland Park.

Bishop Joseph H. Johnson preached at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Highland Park, last night to a congregation that filled the building. The church was prettily decorated. Bishop Johnson confirmed a class of three young people, the last of a class of thirty-eight confirmed this year.

Special mention was made by the bishop of the work that has been done at All Saints' Church by the rector, Rev. Herbert E. Bowers, who is a graduate of Oxford, and who came to the parish six months ago. Since that time the congregation has increased in a gratifying way.

WELLS FARGO MOVES.

Local Branch Goes to Spacious Quarters in Central Building, Which Will Open Today.

Sixty tons of office equipment and express matter were removed yesterday from the Wells Fargo Company's express office at No. 445-447 South Main street to its new location on the first floor of the new Central building, Nos. 609-11 South Main street, corner Sixth. The transfer was made between 8 o'clock and 6 o'clock p.m., and the company is ready for business this morning in handsome new offices in a fireproof building.

Charles N. Campbell, general agent, is in charge of the office. He has been with the local branch for eight years and has seen the business grow from that time—when forty-five men and eleven wagons handled it comfortably—to the present, when 175 men and forty-two wagons are engaged. E. R. Jones is the assistant general agent.

The officers are handsomely furnished in oak and mahogany and are light and roomy.

In the basement are shelves innumerable, holding 3000 or more undelivered packages which must be kept where they can be quickly obtained should a claimant appear. Goods sent without a local address are arranged in order, and a dumb waiter has been installed to carry them quickly to the delivery counter.

$750 KURTZMANN PLAYER PIANOS AT $650

$100 WORTH OF MUSIC ROLLS FREE

A REMARKABLE INTRODUCTORY OFFER

The Kurtzmann Piano Co., responding to a popular demand, has produced a Kurtzmann Player Piano.

You know what the Kurtzmann regular upright and grand pianos are. You know that they are world renowned for musical quality.

And the Player Piano is up to the standard of all the other Kurtzmann instruments.

We are going to tell you of a most remarkable introductory offer on this new player piano, but first let us tell you what the piano really is.

You know that in many Los Angeles homes there stands pianos that are never played. These DEAD pianos are simply decaying because there is no one to play them. There are hundreds of pianos in this vicinity going to rack and ruin simply because they are never used.

Now, the Kurtzmann Player Piano will always be used, because it does not require a musically educated person to play it.

The Kurtzmann Player Piano is a high-grade upright with a self-playing device built inside the case.

Every one can play this piano—no matter how little they know of music. They can reproduce the best in music like a piano virtuoso.

The manufacturers of the Kurtzmann piano are aiding us in introducing the instrument in Southern California.

The Kurtzmann Player Piano regularly sells at $750.

By a special arrangement we are going to sell thirty of these fine instruments at $650 each, and we will give with each instrument $100 worth of music rolls free.

We will gladly grant terms to suit you, and if you have an old piano will allow you a reasonable sum in part payment.

Come and learn further about this unusual offer.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

NOT SO WARM.

PIERCING COLD CHILLS FISHERS.

ANYTHING BUT PLEASANT ALONG THE WEST FORK.

Trout Seekers in Cañyon not Prepared for Such Frigid Weather Are Caught in Rain and Snow With Summer Blankets—Mexican Instantly Killed by Train.

Office of The Times, No. 24 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, May 4.—Reports of severe trials from cold and exposure along the west fork of the San Gabriel River reached here yesterday when trout fishermen who were in the cañon during Saturday's storm arrived. A general exodus from the fastnesses of the west fork occurred Saturday afternoon and yesterday morning, but in many cases the fishermen were forced to undergo hardships.

Leroy Leonard and Dr. Frank J. Tower arrived at Wilson's Peak last night after spending the night of Saturday as guests of the Sierra Madre Club in the West Fork. They were not forced to undergo the furies of the storm in the open, for the cabin of the club proved adequate shelter. According to their story many of the fishermen in the cañon were not prepared for even cloudy weather, being provided with thin summer blankets only. When rain began falling temporary tents were erected and the parties bunched together in an endeavor to keep dry and warm.

The storm keeping up and snow beginning to fall on Saturday afternoon drove many of the fishermen over the trail to Sturtevant's camp, and here they were quartered for the night and fed, through the genial hospitality of Government Ranger Ralph Jeansen. It is said that some of these refugees might have fallen victims to all kinds of ills had not the government shelters been found.

The waters of the cañon are rolled by the storm and there will be no fishing until the waters clear again.

From reports of the fishermen it was no trouble to catch the limit of fifty good sized trout in a few hours.

LIKE BOLT FROM HEAVEN.

Instant death came yesterday afternoon to Francisco Gonsales, a Mexican, when he was struck in the head by the front of a Santa Fé locomotive near Allen avenue in this city. In the fall that followed the collision his neck was broken, and when picked up by the train crew he was dead. It is believed that he never knew what hit him.

As far as can be learned Gonsales was single and lived in Los Angeles. He visited the home of Sylvester Avenes, and the two men dined together. About 5 o'clock Gonsales started home and his path led across the track. It is probable that on account of the sharp curve he did not see the eastbound train and the train crew did not see him until it was too late to stop.

The remains of the man show only a severe wound in the head and it is said his neck is broken. The inquest will be held on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, Coroner Hartwell being in charge.

DISPLAY ART EXHIBIT.

At Throop Polytechnic Institute today the art and handicraft exhibit that is to be sent to London to the International Congress of Art will be thrown open to the public. The display is expected to show the highest skill achieved by students in these departments of the school. Prof. A. E. Batchelder, who is in charge of the display, announces that this will be the last opportunity to see what is practically the best part of the work of the students this year. The exhibition will be made in Stickney Memorial Building and will be open today and tomorrow. Much of the work shown will not be seen in Pasadena again for some time and will take the place of the annual exhibit of the art department in June, although it is planned to hold a smaller exhibit at the end of the term.

Prof. Batchelder said last night that American artists are making every effort to bring the congress to America for the next session, five years hence. The congress convenes every five years, meeting ten years ago in Paris, five years ago in Berlin and this year in London.

WILL WELCOME GOVERNOR.

Gov. George Sheldon of Nebraska and officers of his staff and their wives will be the guests of Pasadena today. This morning at 9:30 o'clock all automobile owners who are to donate their machines are asked to call in front of the Board of Trade rooms and from there proceed to Oneonta Park, where the Governor will be met. A tour of the country in the vicinity of Oak Knoll, East Pasadena and the Hotel Maryland will be the scope and terminus of the morning drive. Luncheon will be served at Hotel Maryland. Orange Grove and Grand avenues and other attractions of the city will be taken in and in the afternoon the trip to Mount Lowe will be taken. Appropriate souvenirs of Pasadena will be tendered the visitors.

STILL TRY FOR RECORDS.

Paul Reinwald and Charles Hanlon both tried to break records on Mount Wilson yesterday, although the hill climb is a thing of the past. Reinwald made the best time ever made with the exception of King's phenomenal record of Wednesday. The Los Angeles man climbed the trail in one hour and thirty-five minutes, while King's record stands as one hour and twenty-five minutes. He descended in fifty-four minutes, just eight minutes behind King's record. Hanlon broke his own former record by making the trip up in one hour and forty-four minutes and came down in fifty-six minutes. Both men will take part in the race six months hence if opportunity offers them a chance.

FUNERAL DATE CHANGED.

On account of the delay in the arrival of his son in time for the funeral on Tuesday, the services over the remains of Charles Packard, pioneer of South Pasadena, will not be held until Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Yesterday evening word was received here that it would be impossible for Mr. Packard, who lives in Dakota, to arrive here until Wednesday and the date was changed. Charles Packard came to South Pasadena in 1885 and served in many of the public offices of the city. He was building and plumbing inspector when he died and was 70 years of age. The funeral will be held at the First Methodist Episcopal Church in South Pasadena.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Rev. Milton C. Runkles, formerly pastor of the Church of the Angels in Garvanza, preached last evening at All Saints' Church. On Wednesday evening of last week, Rev. Runkles was tendered a silver service by members of the Women's Guild and Men's Club of the Church of the Angels at a farewell reception.

Roy Zollar and Edward Shrader of Muscatine, Iowa, were guests of Charles Wood of Earlham street yesterday. Both are much pleased with Pasadena and Southern California.

Members of the negro club known as the Lincoln Day Club, will be addressed by Mayor Thomas Earley in the Kinney Kendal building tonight.

On Saturday night local Democrats nominated the following men as delegates from Pasadena to the State convention: R. T. Blow, James T. Belcher and Walter Simons.

MASON TO SPEAK.

W. R. Hervey of the Los Angeles consistory of Masonry and one of the best posted Masons in Southern California will speak before the Pasadena lodge this evening in Masonic Temple. The occasion will be of especial importance to local members of the lodge.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Members of the Valley Hunt Club and a few non-resident friends were entertained Saturday evening at the clubhouse with a card party. Tables were arranged in the reception-room and hall for bridge and five hundred, and after the games refreshments were served in the dining-room. The table was ornamented with an epergne filled with Maman Cochet roses and was presided over by Mmes. F. F. Rowland and Torrey Everett. The prizes at five hundred were won by Mrs. G. M. Barber and Stephen Cutter Clark, and at bridge by Miss Pauline Lutz and Dr. Joseph T. Condit.

Mrs. Phillip Lester Auten entertained Saturday afternoon with a bridge party at her home on North Madison avenue. In the drawing-room and library, tables for forty players were provided and refreshments were served in the dining-room. Here Misses Irene Grosse, Angie Holmes, Marjorie Bolt and the daughter of the hostess, Miss Cora Auten, assisted. The function was given for Mrs. William Jerrems of Chicago, who has been a guest at Hotel Maryland the past winter.

BREAKFASTS OUT OF TUNE.

Voyagers Who Visit Avalon on Stormy Day Have Knowledge That They Have Stomachs.

AVALON, May 3.—Despite the fact that a severe gale, with constant showers, has prevailed here during the past forty-eight hours, nearly 400 visitors arrived on the steamer Cabrillo today. Many of them showed that the inclement conditions had not harmonized with their early breakfasts. At one time during the voyage a huge sea swept over the vessel, shaking it from bow to stern. Last evening, owing to the severity of the weather, the Cabrillo was obliged to put back into San Pedro without making its regular Saturday evening run.

In the course of the night several seats were blown from the wharf into the white-capped seas, and several rowboats which were insecurely moored were blown away, and will probably be lost before they can be recovered.

Among the visitors on the steamer today were Gov. George L. Sheldon, wife and daughter of Nebraska. Although the cork-like motion of the vessel across the channel "unbalanced" Mrs. Sheldon somewhat, the sturdy Governor was, by keeping up a constant motion around the deck, able to suppress his violent desire to feed his piscatorial friends. After a partial view of the marine gardens from one of the boats, the party again returned to the mainland.

Dr. Harry Gray of Portland, Or.; P. J. McMamarra and wife of Billings, Mont., and F. W. Bergman and wife of Pasadena, registered at the Metropole today.

The Eagles memorial service was held by the representatives of that organization in their hall this afternoon. A large number of visitors attended the ceremonies. President Dr. J. J. Peckham presided at the shrine, where flowers in profusion had been placed to the memory of the departed brothers.

POMONA.

POMONA, May 3.—A number of burglaries and petty thefts have been reported to the local officers during the past ten days, the thieves having visited many localities of the city. Yesterday burglars ransacked the house of Charles S. Hutchings on North Park avenue and secured a diamond ring, pearl necklace and studded gold bracelet which Mrs. Hutchings had left in a handkerchief box in her room. The officers are maintaining an extra watch and it will go hard with the guilty persons when they are caught.

All of the orange packing-houses here are running to their full capacity and the navel oranges will soon be marketed.

Farewell services in the old Presbyterian Church were held this morning and were largely attended. Next Sunday, the new church will be formally dedicated.

A number of local citizens went to Claremont this morning to attend the ceremonies incident to the dedication of the new $8000 pipe organ in the college church.

WHITTIER.

WHITTIER, May 2.—The college green was gay with color yesterday afternoon when hundreds of students and townspeople gathered on the tree-shaded lawns to watch the "May Day revels," as the annual alfresco event of Whittier College is termed. The procession headed by the Whittier band, and including the queen of the May, Miss Leona Merrick, and her maids, heralds, college girls garbed as dairy maids, goddesses, Indians and a host of others was formed. Preceding the queen in the procession came little Tristrine Coffin and Junior Hadley, bearing the floral crown and scepter. One of the prettiest features of the afternoon was the "goddess drill," with Miss Claren Cook as the Goddess of Liberty, the pretty drill being done to the "Star Spangled Banner," and closing with an effective tableaux. The winding of the may pole, Indian huntress drill, dairy maids' drill, numbers by the male chorus and the college quartette were popular features. The celebration closed with a recital this evening in the college auditorium, Vernon Bettin, the boy soprano, furnishing the principal numbers.

Whittier Star Council, Order of Pendo, and Whittier Council, Universal Order of Foresters, both of which found themselves too weak here to continue in existence longer, gave up their charters at this week's meeting, their members uniting in forming Whittier Star Lodge of Fraternal Champions. The new lodge elected its official board, comprising: President, Bert Gidley; vice-president, Elwood Reynolds; secretary, C. O. Doescher; treasurer, J. H. Gilmore; chaplain, Mrs. Bessie Elmore; escort, Miss R. G. Birge; assistant, Mrs. Allie Bowman; inner guard, Herman Brusson; outer guard, Frank Earley; finance committee; E. O. Reynolds, Miss R. G. Birge; trustees, L. J. Stanley, Frank Elmore; musician, Miss Nellie Lankstaff.

UNKNOWN.

SEE MAN DROWN IN THE SURF.

BOATMAN LOSES LIFE NEAR THE ALAMITOS BAY.

Would-be Rescuers Attempt to Reach Him With Launch, but Are Forced to Turn Back—Skiff Which Washes Ashore, Is not Known in That Vicinity.

LONG BEACH, May 3.—Before the eyes of those who were struggling to effect his rescue an unknown boatman was drowned this evening in the surf near the entrance to Alamitos Bay.

It happened at about sunset. The man, who was alone in a skiff was observed to be in trouble. Contractor Smith and Boatman Lewis tried to go out to him with a launch but were compelled by violence of the sea to return.

The skiff was overturned and the man was lost. The craft washed ashore where it awaits identification. It is made of planks. It is painted black outside and blue within. It is not known among the boatmen of that vicinity.

An unsuccessful effort was made to recover the body tonight.

It was learned late this evening that a boat described like the one from which the unknown man was drowned was rented this morning from Paul Lemar of West Long Beach. A young man of unknown name, believed to be a Hebrew, took it. He said he was first going to San Pedro to get his partner and that they were going fishing. The young man acted peculiarly.

On these facts is based a theory that after having lost his partner overboard, the renter of the boat became excited and that his resultant lack of skill in handling the boat was the cause of his own death.

BAPTIST ASSEMBLY.

Of the religious conventions which annually hold sessions in Long Beach, the Baptist Association of Southern California is the first in the field with its advance programme. The association will convene at the First Baptist Church July 22-August 10. President David P. Ward of Pasadena has devoted all of the winter months to the programme and announces the following list of speakers and teachers: John Roach Stratton, Baltimore; C. A. Woody, Portland, Or.; J. W. Weddell, Cleveland; A. W. Rider, E. S. Stcuker, C. W. Prinstad, Oakland; W. C. Cook, Clovis, Cal.; Rev. Hugh K. Walker, W. L. Tucker, A. M. Petty, J. H. Peery, A. S. Phelps, E. W. Thornton, Frank W. Dowling, C. C. Pierce, F. W. Reynolds, J. A. Conklin, J. F. Watson, Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, H. Russell Treavis, Miss Mann Brockway, Anna Brockway, Rev. E. W. Thornton of the First Christian Church will give three addresses on teacher training.

A LA MARY'S LAMB.

The six-year-old son of Jonah Jones, member-elect of the new Board of Education, started to school Friday and his first appearance created a sensation, which will long remain school annals history. Recently Jonah Jones, Jr., prevailed on his father to save two orphaned squabs from the baking pan, promising to raise them by hand. He fed them delicacies intended for his own palate and the pigeons became so gentle that whenever little Jonah appeared they would fly to him and perch upon his head or shoulders and follow him about. Friday the lad was taken to school, but had scarcely been in his seat ten minutes when through the open window flew the two pigeons and perched on their little master's shoulders. Discipline went to pieces in an instant. The birds were promptly ejected by the teachers, but flew in through the window again. This time they were allowed to remain, but there was little studying accomplished and Jonah tomorrow will have to fasten his pets up before he goes to school.

TOLD ALONG SHORE.

On next Saturday the athletic teams of Long Beach and Pasadena high schools will hold a track meet on the local campus.

Building permits for April aggregated $20,800. May started with three permits aggregating $21,000. One of these is a sixteen-room apartment-house, and the other two brick business blocks.

In checking over old tax sale certificates of former years, Auditor Hatch finds that many of the properties have been redeemed, but the certificates were never canceled.

Democratic primaries will be held tomorrow evening to select delegates to the Democratic assembly caucus in Los Angeles.

Tomorrow morning the new Board of Education recently elected under the new charter will organize and assume charge of the Long Beach city school district. No changes in subordinate officials will be made until the close of the present school term.

Today's weather kept visitors away from the beach and the few who did brave the wind were glad enough to get on the lee side of buildings after a few minutes on the pier or beach.

Joseph F. Nadeau died suddenly this morning, aged 62. He was a son of Remi Nadeau, once owner of what is now known as the Cudahy ranch. He had lived in California forty years. He leaves five sons and one daughter.

PYTHIANS TO GATHER.

The convention season for Long Beach will open May 18 when the Grand Lodges of Knights of Pythias and Pythian sisters will convene here in a five days' session. Three hundred and fifty delegates will be in attendance and as many more past chancellors from all parts of Southern California who will take this opportunity of securing the grand lodge degree. This is the first time in the past two years that the Pythian Grand Lodge has convened routh of the Tehachepi. Headquarters of the Grand Lodge will be at Hotel Virginia where elegant quarters have been reserved with special reception rooms for Grand Chancellor Short and Grand Keeper of Records and Seal Shaffner. Sessions of the Pythian Grand Lodge will be held in the Auditorium, while the Pythian Sisters will meet at Odd Fellows hall, corner Second and American. The programme as arranged for the session, follows:

Monday, May 18.—Afternoon: Preliminary organization of Grand Lodge and conference of committees. Evening: Reception to Grand Lodge, Past Grand Chancellor D. K. Trask of Los Angeles presiding; music by municipal band; opening ode, Pythian quartette, Frank Cates, Dr. W. H. Jones, A. L. Parmley and F. A. Knight; welcome address by Mayor C. H. Windham for the city and Judge B. F. Bludsoe of San Bernardino for Southern California; responses by Grand Chancellor G. C. Short for Pythians; Grand Chief Julia F. Day for Pythian Sisters; Maj.-Gen. McGinsher, for Uniform Rank; Mrs. Mary Downing for Past Grand Chiefs and Robert J. Burns for Past Grand Chancellors.

Tuesday, May 19.—Grand Lodge sessions morning and afternoon. Evening: Business session of California brigade, U.R.K. of P.; dramatic exemplification of page rank at sun parlor by Gauntlet Lodge of Los Angeles; exemplification of rank by Pythian Sisters at Odd Fellows Hall.

Wednesday, May 20.—Morning and afternoon business sessions of Grand Lodge. All companies of Third Regiment Uniformed Rank under orders to assemble at 7:30 o'clock for exemplification of Uniform Rank degree at sun parlor. At the Auditorium, Uniform Rank military ball. Grand march by Uniform Rank members only.

Thursday, May 21.—Uniform Rank Day. Companies called at 9:30 o'clock, assemble at 9:45 and parade at 10 a.m. Following the parade luncheon will be served on lower deck of Auditorium. In the afternoon competitive drill on High School campus. Prizes offered are $100 for best drilled company, $60 for second, $25 for third; $40 for largest company; $50 to company coming greatest distance; $25 for best drilled company with rifles. All companies are to have not less than twenty-one men. Evening: Dramatic presentation of class of 100 in degree of D.O.K.K. at sun parlor; reception of Pythian Sisters at I.O.O.F. hall.

Friday, May 22.—Closing session of Grand Lodges. In the evening, ball tendered to delegates by local lodge.

FOAM CRESTS.

SKIPPERS AVOID RIPPING SEA.

MANY SMALL CRAFT REMAIN AT SAN PEDRO.

Steamer Queen Is Held There to Wait for Passengers Who Intended to Board Her at Redondo—Great Enthusiasm Over Farewell to the Torpedo Boat Destroyers.

SAN PEDRO, May 3.—With a twenty-two to thirty-mile gale stirring up the channel today, skippers of small craft considered it safe to remain in the inner harbor. The only boats plying between this port and Long Beach were the Music and the J. C. Elliott. As the storm is from the southwest today, the waters of San Pedro Bay are sheltered to a great extent by the breakwater. The boats carried many passengers, who thought to brave the rough weather, perhaps as a new experience.

Many of the fishing craft that went out yesterday afternoon, returned to port as the storm gained in violence. Others too far out have probably sought sheltered nooks at the Island of Catalina. Only two or three are missed from their moorings, but the impression among those fishermen ashore is that their comrades are safe, as they could not fail to note the approach of the storm. Those that came in late from the direction of Newport Beach, hugged the shore closely until within the lee of the breakwater, and then made the rest of the trip safely. The power schooner Edith, Capt. John, attempted to put out for Clemente Island this morning to bring back a cargo of sheep, but when outside in the channel it was deemed wise to return.

When the steamship Queen arrived at 9 o'clock this morning from San Diego, Capt. Thomas found a telegram awaiting him, asking him to delay the vessel until the passengers who had engaged passage at Redondo had arrived. Four special cars came in, bringing 250 passengers and their baggage, and were transferred to the vessel. The Queen then proceeded direct to San Francisco, without going to Redondo.

FLOTILLA DEPARTS.

In response to the order to "let loose all moorings," prompt on the minute at 8 o'clock a.m. the crews of the little black fleet busied themselves, and the six torpedo-boat destroyers swung out from their berths and steamed down the inner harbor, on their way to Santa Cruz today. Even at that early hour, crowds lined the wharves, anxious to bid au revoir to the navy visitors, and also wish the black, low-row hulls speed toward the outer harbor. As the last boat in line to follow in the wake of the other five, got clear from the Crescent wharf, cheers rang out, and were returned in volume by the sailors of the flotilla.

Special cars brought the officers and men who had spent the day in Los Angeles to the harbor town shortly after midnight. They were almost surfeited with the entertainment received, and there was no chance for retiring until they had fully acquainted their mates, whose duties compelled them to stay on board, with the details of the festivities enjoyed.

A large number of San Pedrans went out to Point Firmin, in order to get a better view of the departing flotilla. The wind which had increased to a thirty-five-mile gale in the channel during the night, had abated to some extent, but the sea was still rough, and as far as the eye could see white-caps dotted the ocean. It was to watch the torpedo-boat destroyers make headway against the foam-crested waves that drew the throngs to the bluffs. It was an inspiring scene as the boats rounded the breakwater and plunged into the breakers.

SIERRA MADRE.

SIERRA MADRE, May 2.—Much dissatisfaction has been expressed at the change made by the water company in the hours for sprinkling lawns, gardens and flower beds. From 5 to 7 o'clock p.m. is now the allotted time, and residents say that this is not sufficient or satisfactory. Formerly several hours were allowed in the morning. In sections where several get the water through the same main pipe and where the pressure is not great, much discomfort and lack of sufficient water is noted. It is said an effort will be made to have the water company go back to the old regime, or to extend the time. Inasmuch as there is no shortage of water and the reserve reservoirs are full the consumers do not understand the motive for this change.

The Board of Health served notices on several property owners to cut down shrubbery, trim trees and eradicate all damp and unwholesome places that shut out the sunlight, and that border on the streets and highways. Health Officer Dr. Titian J. Coffey in an address before the Women's Club urged the necessity of precaution in this community where so many tubercular invalids seek relief and the object of this move to lessen the danger of contagion from the sputum of careless invalids, and start an educational campaign in these communities. This work is being done in connection with suggestions received from the State Board of Health and the anti-tubercular league of California.

COVINA.

COVINA, May 4.—The musical festival given by the orchestra, band and chorus of th Covina Union High School, under leadership of their instructor, F. A. Fitzgerald, in the Woman's Club house last evening, attracted a large audience. There were seventy-five voices in the chorus, and fifty pieces in the band and orchestra collectively.

There promises to be a heavy vote at the Republican primary election here Tuesday. The action of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League in presuming to dictate to the intelligent voters of this district whom they should vote for as delegates to the forthcoming State convention, has caused a wave of indignation to sweep from one end of the district to the other. Their action in appointing the delegates and mailing the tickets to the voters without giving them an opportunity to signify their choice in caucus and convention has in this city disgusted even those who in the early stages of the campaign were inclined to indorse the movement, and it is now these men that are most bitter in denouncing the boss tactics of Lissner and his associates.

Preliminary steps were taken this afternoon toward the organization of a Y.M.C.A. in Covina. It has been arranged for speakers from the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. to address a mass meeting of men here on Sunday next.

ASSURES BOYS' SCHOOL.

Plans Accepted for the Construction in the Alessandro Valley. Country.

RIVERSIDE, May 3.—Plans prepared by Architect Benton of Los Angeles for the proposed boys' school in the Alessandro Valley have been accepted by Dr. C. Hanford Henderson, who is to establish the school, and construction work is to begin at once. Dr. Henderson departed yesterday for the East, but he has left the work in Mr. Benton's hands and it is to be pushed uninterruptedly through the summer. It is Dr. Henderson's plan to return to Riverside some time in September, when he will bring with him a corps of instructors and prepare for the opening of the school.

BUSINESS PROPERTY SELLS.

The sale was completed yesterday of a frontage of sixty-eight feet on Main street, between Ninth and Tenth streets, owned by Mrs. Martha G. Davis. The purchaser is George N. Reynolds, who owns the adjoining blocks on the north. The price paid is understood to have been about $300 a front foot, or a little more than $20,000 for the piece. The property is improved with the mission-style buildings occupied by the Morning Enterprise, Williams's Art Shop and the Riverside Cycle and Sporting Goods Company. The deal was made through J. T. Jarvis & Co.

DOUBT HIS WORD.

The four Chinamen arrested in Riverside Friday, charged with crossing the line from Mexico without the proper papers, were taken to Los Angeles last evening by J. C. Napline of the government immigration service. In attempting to justify his presence, in this country, one of the quartette declared that he was born in Los Angeles, but as he could not speak a word of English, his story was not credited.

SAN DIEGO'S GROWTH.

School Census Gratifying—Councilman's Seat Saved by Court Order.

SAN DIEGO, May 3.—The census shows that there are now 5622 children of school age in the city compared with 5386 in 1907. The total number of children registered is 7617, compared with 5464 in 1897.

The total population of the city is estimated at 45,000, compared with 42,000 a year ago. The total number of families having at least one child of school age is 3862, compared with 3464 last year, a gain of 398. Of all the children 7276 are native born and 341 foreign born.

ROCK-PILE RECRUITS.

An ordinance has been prepared making it compulsory for all prisoners sentenced to the County Jail from the justice court to work on the rock pile in the city park from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with one hour for luncheon. A fine of $500 or a six months' sentence is provided in the event of an escape and capture.

The body of former State Senator A. E. Nutt, who died in Tucson, Ariz., arrived last evening. The funeral will be held Tuesday under the ausplces of the local lodge of Elks.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY.

Charles Kelly, Councilman from the Fourth Ward, has been granted an order by the Superior Court restraining the Council from declaring his seat vacant. Kelly alleges that there is a conspiracy against him. He is charged with hiring rigs to the city and getting the money by bills presented by his foreman.

ANAHEIM.

ANAHEIM, May 3.—L. P. Dunlap, the blacksmith of this city who pleaded guilty to a charge of sending defamatory letters through the mails to some young lady friends, got off with a fine of $30. The prospecuting attorney stated that he did not believe Dunlap intended to break the law, but sent the letters out as a joke.

Messrs. Potts and Waters of Los Angeles purchased a ten-acre walnut orchard on Broad street for $3500, and H. H. Pierce has sold twenty acres, imporved, in the West End to E. A. Beard of Los Angeles for $7000.

J. F. Ahlborn, who resigned as manager of the Sunset Telephone Company a year ago to locate in Chicago, has returned, and will engage in business in this city.

Bowman Merritt has gone to Seattle to reside.

Mr. Davis, father of Mrs. William Criss, has gone to Manhattan, Kan., and to Cushing, Okla., on a three months' visit.

There is another slump in the cabbage market. Growers are now receiving only $6 a ton, prices having dropped from $8. Some growers in the northern part of the county are plowing up cabbage, as there is but little demand for the product even at $6, on account of the eastern markets being filled with cabbage from the Southern States.

NOTES FROM THE ORIENT.

In Japan there is a great demand for hides and skins, as well as for the finished products of leather, such as trunks, valises, bags, and boots and shoes. Hides are imported from Asia, Australia and Europe. Nearly all the leathers are supplied by the United States, particularly sole leather. In the last four years Japan has imported $3,500,000 worth of leathers. The duty on sole leather is about $1.70 per 100 pounds, and on hides and skins it is 44 cents per 100 pounds. This report is from the Canadian Trade Commissioner at Hongkong.

Japan's demand for imported butter and cheese is increasing. The Oblat Fathers in Northern Japan make a product resembling fresh Holland cheese, the call for which far exceeds the supply. Australian, Danish and Dutch butters are used in Japan, but Australia is 6700 miles from Yokohama; Denmark, 12,800 miles, and Holland, 12,300 miles. shippers by certain European steamship lines get a 10 per cent. freight rebate at the end of each year.

Australia's new tariff will be about 5 per cent. higher than the old tariff. On most lines the amount of the preference granted to Great Britain is of more importance than the additions to the tariff, says the Canadian Trade Commissioner at Sydney, N. S. W. Sewing machines, typewriters, machine tools and printing machines are still free.

Fanning Island, the mid-ocean station of the Pacific cable, was recently sold by order of the court, and was bought by Father Rougier. The sale does not affect British sovereignty of the island. As a matter of fact it was bought on behalf of a British subject of Fiji, who had previously been half-owner of the island. The sale was simply to settle a partnership. For cable reasons this information is of American importance.

The emigration of young women from Great Britain to Australia for places as domestic servants is a marked success. The applications are surprisingly large.

Extensive deposits of brown coal exist near Melbourne, Australia. Practical tests for railway purposes have proved most satisfactory.

Two cables from the mainland to Tasmania are to be laid by the Australian government. Tenders are in the hands of the Australian Postmaster-General, at Melbourne, and the work is to be begun right away.

American barley is wanted at Melbourne, Australia. A recent Pacific Coast shipment of 36,000 bags went immediately into consumption. The demand for prime quality malting barley is likely to continue, says the Canadian Trade Commissioner, at Melbourne.

The United States and Canada supply most of the "news" paper used in Australia, but European countries—Norway especially—are pressing hard for the business.

The imports and exports of New Zealand in 1907 were the highest on record, reaching $85,000,000 and $100,000,000, respectively. Compared with 1897, the increases are $45,000,000 imports, and $50,000,000 exports.

Japan's fifteen chief imports in 1907 were, in value:

Cotton	$41,330,924
Rice	13,101,000
Sugar	11,862,987
Machinery	9,356,690
Iron bars, rods, plates and sheets	9,110,107
Oil cake	7,825,066
Woolen cloths and serges	7,753,068
Petroleum	6,163,446
Shirtings and cotton prints	5,746,476
Beans, peas and pulse	4,859,145
Wool	4,587,164
Wheat flour	4,095,491
Paper	3,209,932
Cotton yarns	2,360,595
Indigo, dried	2,223,436

The next fourteen principal imports were wheat, liquors, fibers, phosphorites, leathers, pig and ingot iron, steel rails, pipes and fittings, cotton satins and umbrella cloth, mousselines, nails, locomotives and steam vessels.

Japan's chief exports in 1907 were:

Raw silk	$50,221,400
Cotton yarn	17,651,763
Silk, habutai	16,384,262
Copper, pig and slab	12,552,447
Coal	8,158,467
Cotton tissues	7,323,550
Tea	5,425,462
Sugar, refined	5,494,174
Matches	5,457,952

Her other principal exports were sake, beer, cigarettes, wood, waste silk, camphor, fish oil, straw plaits and chip braids, silk handkerchiefs, cotton underclothing, porcelain and earthenware, lacquered ware, looking-glass, mats and mattings and umbrellas.

The Japan Times says: "Japan's flour-milling industry has of late shown great growth and improvement, affecting foreign imports."

Before the Budget Committee, the Minister of Foreign Affairs for Japan recently said that his government recognized that the anti-Japanese agitation on the Pacific Coast and elsewhere was due to the advent in large numbers of low-class laborers. The export of such laborers to countries where the anti-Japanese sentiment prevailed would, in future, be restricted by the government."

The Treasury of Japan is to devote $15,000,000 a year to railway extensions and improvements. The United States buys each year nearly twice as much raw silk from Japan as does all Europe—about 90,000 bales a year against 46,000 bales. Four native and twenty-five foreign firms do the entire business.

$60,000 STOCK
Of The RICE-NIMMOCK-LE SAGE COMPANY

THIS Great Sacrifice Sale is exactly what it is represented to be—the reductions named herewith are genuine. There should always be a good and sufficient reason for a sale of this sweeping nature else there can be no confidence shown by the public. We consider our reason one of the very best. We purchased this stock from Rice-Nimmock-Le Sage Co. at a sacrifice and found that in many directions they were carrying far more stock than their business warranted. A profitable business cannot be done where a stock is twice as much as it ought to be. That is exactly the condition of our stock today. It must be reduced to proper proportions and until this is accomplished you will see such reductions in furniture prices as you never saw or heard of in Southern California.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Kentucky Society.

All Kentuckians in the city are invited to attend the meeting of the Kentucky Society at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Chamber of Commerce building. Officers will be elected for the ensuing year and other business transacted.

Last Travel Lecture.

Mrs. Andrew Stewart Lobinger will lecture on "Spain and Queen Isabella" for members of the Young Women's Christian Association at 8 o'clock this evening at their rooms, Third and Hill Streets. This is the last in the successful series of travel lectures.

Cathedral Renovation.

The official list just published of the Easter envelope contributions at St. Vibiana's Cathedral shows total receipts of $868.70. The cathedral is being thoroughly renovated with the money so contributed. The outside has been repainted and the interior is now undergoing improvements.

Boys Camp Out.

Co. A, of the First Congregational Church, U.B.B.A., under Capt. L. G. Bryant, returned to their homes Saturday after a day and night in camp near Highland Park. They enjoyed the experience greatly and look forward with high hopes to their summer camping trip.

Messenger Run Over.

Joseph Tracy, a messenger boy living at No. 652 Gladys avenue, was run over by a buggy and severely injured yesterday afternoon, at Third and Main streets. The police are looking for the three men who were riding in the vehicle. They appeared to be intoxicated. The boy was cared for at the Receiving Hospital.

Lacked a Permit.

Guy Wolf, who was distributing pamphlets exploiting "Red Emma" Goldman, was arrested yesterday afternoon and lodged in jail on the misdemeanor charge of peddling hand bills without a permit. He made no effort to secure bail, and will be arraigned this morning in the Police Court.

Templar Installation.

Tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, Golden West Commandery will assemble at Masonic Hall and be constituted a commandery of Knights Templar by Right Eminent Commander William D. Stephens, who will be accompanied by Eminent Sir A. A. Caldwell, Grand Captain General, and Eminent Sir William A. Hammel, Grand Junior Warden. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected and installed.

Union Rescue Mission.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night at the Union Rescue Mission on North Main street. A. V. Culver, one of the converts, told of his experience as a hobo, wandering about the country without hope of redemption, before he came under the influence of the mission. His descriptions were graphic and made a profound impression. Many other converts testified. One of the most impressive sights was when all of the men and women who have been converted at the Union Rescue Mission stood up in front of the platform and sang a hymn.

From Many Climes.

The cosmopolitan character of the winter population of Los Angeles is shown by the visitors' register for April at the "Made in California" exhibit in Mercantile Place. Forty-six per cent. came from outside California and represented forty-one States and eleven foreign countries. Only a small proportion of the visitors register. One-half of all out-of-State visitors came from seven States, Illinois, Ohio, New York, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Minnesota. Among foreign countries, Canada, China, England, France, Hungary, Scotland, Africa, Tahiti and the Philippines were represented. Many callers bought goods, while all carried away souvenirs.

Chauffeur of Touring Car Is not Blamed.

While spinning south on Huntington boulevard, about 8 o'clock last night, in a sixty horse power Thomas touring car, Charles P. Illingworth, a chauffeur, ran down and seriously injured Fred Horowitz, a twelve-year-old boy, who was riding a bicycle. Two wheels passed over the lad's right leg before the machine could be stopped.

Dr. T. L. Patterson, who was one of six passengers in the car, jumped out and lifted the boy into it. He was taken to the County Hospital, where it was found that his right leg was broken in two places and that he was suffering from concussion of the brain. His father, Moses Horowitz, a merchant, at No. 922 West First street, was notified and went to the hospital.

The accident happened near the intersection of Huntington boulevard and Alhambra road. Horowitz and a companion were riding south on the boulevard. When Illingworth came up behind them, he sounded his horn and the boys gave him the road. Suddenly another automobile whirled into the boulevard from Alhambra road. Horowitz was blinded by the glare of its headlights and swerved to the west side of the road, directly in front of Illingworth's machine.

The chauffeur said that he was driving at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour when the unfortunate affair took place. Dr. Patterson and his party had been to Pasadena and were returning to Los Angeles.

Young Horowitz had been out trying a kite which he has invented for receiving wireless messages. He is of a mechanical turn of mind and has been working for months to perfect his invention. He conceived the idea while attending the Fremont-avenue school.

DISTINGUISHED LECTURER AND AUTHOR SAVING SOULS.

Rev. Dr. Brandt Meeting With Remarkable Success in Evangelistic Services at First Christian Church. Man of Wide Experience, Whose Oratory Mingles Pathos and Humor.

Rev. John L. Brandt, who was for seven years pastor of the First Christian Church of St. Louis, Mo., began

Rev. John L. Brandt,

Dr. Brandt is a man of large experience, having occupied some of the leading pulpits of his denomination in the country. He has traveled widely and lectured in many lands. He is the author of seven books.

Dr. Brandt's success in evangelistic work, to which he is now giving his entire attention, is remarkable. He recently achieved great results in a union meeting of the Baptist and Christian Churches of Omaha. He is slender in build, with marked features, speaks with rapidity and favor and effectively mingles humor and pathos. Large congregations assembled at both services yesterday, to hear him.

At the morning service the evangelist preached on Mary's pouring ointment on the head of Jesus. Mary, he said, stands as a type of all ages for a woman who loves the Lord and is willing to bestow her gifts upon Him. She attained to the highest within her power. She did the best she could. In the church of today, as in ancient times, it is the man with one talent who buries it.

Dr. Brandt appealed to his hearers to give their hearts to the Lord, to seek the divine help in the high and holy service of winning men to Christ.

A large number of persons were converted at both services. A meeting will be held every night this week.

SEEKS MISSING BRIDE.

Sorry Plight of Young Husband, Who Tells Odd Story—Begs Police Aid.

J. W. Corbett, who says he was married only three months ago, came in from Highgrove yesterday, in search of his wife, Bertha. He begged the police to help him locate her. He wanted to swear out a warrant for her arrest, but he could not think of anything criminal she had done.

With tears in his eyes, the young husband explained that his bride, who is only 18 years old, deserted her home because of a quarrel with her mother, who, it is said, meddled in her affairs.

"When Corbett came home from work Wednesday he found his wife in tears. When he sought to comfort her, she told him she was tired of married life.

"I'm going away to earn my living and I don't want you to follow me," she remarked with determination.

Thursday she came to Los Angeles. For two days the husband has been searching the city for her.

HONESTY:
This is the only policy that will permanently win out in any line.
New thoughts and new methods arise that change the trend of things for a while, but the business that is based on honor and merit goes steadily on.
Because B. & K. clothes are made honestly, they constantly become more popular.
Honest fabrics, honest workmanship, honest prices.
Suits to Order $20 to $50

Ivory Soap—it keeps the country clean.
There is no exaggeration about this statement. It is a fact.
Nearly every grocer sells Ivory Soap. Nearly every well-to-do American family uses it; for the bath, for the toilet or in the laundry—for the finer things.
